Highway Bill Wins Approval Of Congress

President Expected To Sign Construction Measure Promptly

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is expected to sign promptly a bill designed to insure completion by 1972 of the $41 billion, 41,000-mile interstate highway system.

The bill, containing most of the provisions Kennedy requested, was passed by voice votes Monday in the House and Senate. Administration officials have said they expect the highway program would give the economy a lift.

The measure sets up the 90 per cent federal financing on a continuing basis. This will allow states to make contracts with the assurance of federal funds for the highway program, which began in 1954.

Retains Gasoline Tax

It carries an appropriation of $11.56 billion for the U.S. government's 90 per cent share of the costs over the next 11 years. It also continues the four-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax until Sept. 30, 1972. This tax had been scheduled to drop to three cents Friday.

Also retained is a provision to control billboards along the interstate system. States signing by agreement to limit billboards receive a 1/2 per cent federal bonus. The bill provides these taxes to take effect Saturday.

A doubling of the use tax on trucks weighing more than 26,000 pounds, from $1.50 for 1,000 pounds to $3.

A boost in the tire tax from 8 to 10 cents a pound and on the tube levy from 9 to 10 cents. An increase in the tread rubber tax from 3 to 5 cents a pound. The federal government's share of the highway system's cost is estimated at $37 billion.

Chicago Man Named To Federal Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today picked George W. Mitchell, Chicago economist, to fill a vacancy on the 7-member Federal Reserve Board.

Mitchell, a Democrat, is vice president in charge of research of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank. He also is an associate economist of the Federal Open Market Committee.

Mitchell is Kennedy's first appointment to the Federal Reserve Board. He will succeed M. S. Szymczak who resigned June 1. The appointment is for the remainder of Szymczak's term, extending until next Jan. 31.

Strips of Injured Person's Rib Used to Help Mend Broken Bones

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Broken bones which refuse to knit are being mended with thin strips of the person's own rib, bone specialists said today.

The ribbons of rib stimulates new growth of bone, usually within two to three months, said Capt. James R. Dineen of the Oakland, Calif., Naval Hospital, and Lt. of their hours in the White House. Richard B. Gresham, National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md.

Unite Broken Pieces

The ribbons of rib contains a layer of particular cells, the periosteum, which promotes bone regeneration, they said in an exhibit presented to the American Medical Association convention.

The rib ribbon is laid alongside or sometimes inside, the broken bones. Wires, rods or plaster casts are used to keep the bones immobile.

The rib cells then stimulate new growth of bone to unite the broken pieces. Later, the rib strip is absorbed by the body.

The ribbons must be taken from the person's own rib. The rib later regenerates its own lost material.

Dineen said the method has worked successfully in 50 persons with fractured long bones of the arms, legs, and hands.

One man had lost a leg in an automobile accident, and infection and delayed mending threatened to cost him the other leg.

Dineen said. He credits the rib-ribbon technique with saving the leg.

Bones in the index finger of a young marine failed to unite after being smashed by a .45 slug in a shooting accident. X-rays two months after the accident showed no growth of the separated bones.

Four months after a rib ribbon was able to use his hand even in graft was inserted, the bones had united, and the young marine's sport of boxing, Dineen said.

This kind of bone grafting technique has been used before, with strips taken from other types of bones. Dineen and Gresham figured the rib material was far more potent in stimulating regrowth of bone.

A new treatment to save some infected eyes from blindness was reported by a Texas physician.

He finds some stubborn ulcers of the corner of window of the eye are caused by fungus rather than germ infections.

The eye infections due to germs are easily cured, said Dr. Wendell D. Gingrich of the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston.

About one in 50 eye ulcers is caused by a fungus, carried into the eye by a speck of flaking dirt or other object.

Special Techniques

Fungus infection should be suspected if the ulcer doesn't heal through usual treatments.

Then special techniques can be used to identify the fungus. Gingrich said it can be cured by using a mercury compound and a sulfadiazine drug, and that this treatment has

Dublin Again Elects Jewish Lord Mayor

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — For the second time in five years the Irish of Dublin have picked themselves a Jewish lord mayor.

Benefit Hikes Under Cost of Living Social Security Win Passage in Senate

Bill Would Let Men Retire At 62, Boost Minimum Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's bill to increase Social Security benefits has won Senate passage following a promise by Democratic leaders to bring up later this summer a medical care program for the aged.

The measure, passed Monday 90 to 0, now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to iron out minor differences. It would let men retire at age 62 under Social Security, boost the minimum monthly check from $33 to $40, raise widow's benefits by 10 per cent and add 160,000 persons to benefit rolls.

Agree on Delay

An expected fight over medical care for the aged failed to develop. A Republican proposal was withdrawn after Democratic assurances the House would conduct hearings on the subject next month.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., chief sponsor of the GOP plan, served notice, however, that he would seek to force a vote on the issue before the 1961 session ends. He said it should not be made a political football in 1962, an election year.

Hopes for Action

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., chief sponsor of the Social Security approach to health care in the Senate, said he, too, strongly hoped for action at this session.

The Social Security bill cleared by the Senate carries out most of Kennedy's recommendations and the broadcast said the prisoners' plans were learned from unofficial sources and said they were returning "because of the failure of their mission."

However, an immigration official here who has been dealing with the prisoners said he had heard nothing of their immediate return to Cuba.

"I don't believe it," he said. "There are no such plans."

Castro's Comment

The broadcast also quoted Fidel Castro as saying the prisoners had not been allowed to speak with the defunct Tractors for Freedom Committee which he reportedly described as a "mockery." Castro was also quoted as having said that Cuba was prepared to accept farm equipment in return for the prisoners and that "if no agreement has been reached, it is their fault."

"The committee wants to cheat us," Castro was quoted as saying.

It had been reported earlier that John Hooker Jr., executive secretary of the disbanded Tractors for Freedom Committee, a trash hauler and the mother as would confer with the prisoners' once again early this afternoon.

Hooker told The Associated Press he expected that he would have a decision to announce to the prisoners on the future of the negotiations.

Union Leaders Critical But Ship Owners Welcome Action, Pledge Cooperation

NEW YORK (AP)—A fact-finding board meets today to speed a report on the maritime strike to President Kennedy. The report could be the crucial step in halting the 12-day-old strike under the Taft-Hartley law.

The three-man board gathered in response to a reluctant SOS from Kennedy, who voted against the Taft-Hartley law as a congressman in 1946 but invoked it Monday on the grounds the strike imperils national security.

The fact-finders scheduled a meeting with "all principals in the dispute."

Union leaders involved in the strike reacted to the move with displeasure, skepticism that the strike really poses a threat to the nation and warning that even an 80-day cooling-off period under the law would fail to cool off the strikers.

Owners Pleased

Many of the owners of the 200-odd ships that have been tied up in Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coast ports, welcomed the news and promised the President full cooperation.

Creation of the inquiry board was the first step under the Taft-Hartley law for the settlement of strikes considered national emergencies. The board was instructed to report its findings to the President Friday.

Kennedy can then instruct the attorney general to seek an injunction in a federal court. The judge must grant at least a temporary injunction for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Labor leaders did not expect that an injunction would be issued before July 5, and they expressed confidence it would not be a permanent injunction.

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, one of the six striking unions, said an 80-day injunction could lead to a much worse shipping strike next fall, when the injunction expired.

Ralph E. Casey, president of the fact-finding board, said the board meets today to speed a report on the maritime strike to President Kennedy.

Governors Discuss School Financing

Ribicoff Sends Bluntly Worded Challenge to Group Meeting in Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP)—The national governors tackled the school financing problem today with conference speakers attacking and defending the Kennedy aid-to-education program.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff sent a bluntly worded challenge to "states' rights" opponents of President Kennedy's measure. He asked them to specify which, if any, of existing federal school aid programs they would be willing to give up.

Ribicoff, unable to attend, sent Asst. Secretary James M. Quayle to read his remarks.

"Rooted in Politics"

Raymond Moley, contributing editor of Newsweek magazine, said Kennedy's program of grants for school construction and teachers' salaries is "rooted and nourished in politics."

He added it "relies upon the quick but illusory proposition that the federal income tax is inexhaustible."

The school aid controversy at a scheduled business session preceded a state dinner tonight at which Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was to review the grave international situation that has furnished an uneasy background to this otherwise gay and colorful 53rd annual conference.

Collect Sunburns

Governors and their families collected sunburns on the beaches and added poundage at such typical Hawaiian affairs as a water-side luau, a feast featuring a roast pig.

But in conversations with each other and with newsmen many of them made it clear they are apprehensive about new threatening gestures made by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Gov. David L. Lawrence, Pennsylvania Democrat, proposed the conference go on record as solidly behind Kennedy in any negotiations with Khrushchev.

Unite With President

Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, Oregon Republican, said his party will unite behind the President on Berlin. But he said the GOP reserves the right "to disagree and to constructively offer criticism."

Ribicoff's message told the governors that those who cry out loudest about states' rights invariably "are quartered in the states receiving the greatest share of federal funds."

"For brief intervals during each session of Congress," he said, "the states' rights banner has been hauled down while realistic governors and senators and congressmen hammered out programs of federal aid for highways, for welfare grants, for farm programs, for resource development—yes, and for education as well."

"Then, with the legislation enacted and the allotment formulas adjusted to take account of variations in state financial resources, the banners are again unfurled."

Kuwait Orders Army to Border As Crisis Grows

Oil-Rich Sheikdom Proclaims State of Emergency Exists

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A Kuwait official said a state of emergency was proclaimed today in that oil-rich little sheikdom, menaced by Iraq's bold bid to annex it. The army was reported ordered to the border, so far quiet, to curb any invasion.

Abdel Aziz Hassan, Kuwait's director of education, announced these precautions in Cairo, where he is to submit the sheikdom's application for membership in the Arab League. Membership would give it equal footing with Iraq and other sovereign nations in Middle East councils.

The league's acting secretary-general, Dardiri Ismail, said that before the league considers Kuwait's application Secretary General Abdel Khalek Hassana will attempt to settle the Kuwait-Iraq dispute.

Gets Support

Saudi Arabia has already proclaimed support of Kuwait. Kuwait's ruler, Sheik Abdullah Al-Salim As-Sabah, was seeking additional backing to bolster the independence Britain had pledged to protect.

"I expect the U.A.R. government to issue an official statement Wednesday supporting Kuwait's stand," Hassan said.

Diplomatic sources said league leaders also are taking a grave view of the claim by Iraq's ambitious Premier Abdel Karim Kassem. The little sheikdom has 200,000 people.

Violent Demonstrations

Iraq's claim of sovereignty set off violent demonstrations in the little country, for 62 years a British protectorate, wedged between Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

"Even Iraqis living in Kuwait participated in the demonstrations," Hassan said.

King Hussein of Jordan, responded to Sheik Abdullah's call for help in maintenance of Kuwait's legal rights. "Jordan has always been and will continue to be a supporter of truth and justice," said Hussein's answer.

"Jordan will always work for the good of her sister states and the Arab nation (world) at large."

The Kuwait government, with British backing, declared it would fight any Iraqi attempt at annexation.

Britain's Pledge

A British Foreign Office spokesman in London cited Britain's pledge to defend her former protectorate — given independence last week — if asked. Forty percent of the oil Britain uses comes from Kuwait. The oil industry there is operated by British and American companies.

Indications were that Iraq would find little if any support from her Middle East neighbors although the Soviet Union may back Kassem.

Informants said Kassem's claim had caused embarrassment and annoyance for other members of the Arab League and particularly President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, who had just congratulated Kuwait on its new independence. The league is considering Kuwait's application for membership as a sovereign nation after 62 years as a British protectorate.

No Call Yet

Diplomatic sources said Kuwait had not yet called on Britain to come to her defense. But Kuwait's ruler, Sheik Abdullah Al-Salim As-Sabah, held a long conference with British representative John Richmond. The Iraqi move also prompted British warships and soldiers to delay their departure from Kuwait.

Iraq sent a note to all foreign Kassem called Kuwait "an international and Arab diplomatic missions in Iraq part of the Iraqi mother, Baghdad stressing its 'firm de-land'."

Former President Eisenhower folds up his glasses as he greets former vice president Nixon as they meet in Hershey, Pa., at a Republican dinner. Eisenhower greeted Nixon with the question "When did you get into town?"

Acts Folksy

Eisenhower Has Ball at Party In His Honor in Pennsylvania

BY ARTHUR EDSON

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The nice thing about being president is what happens once you get out of office.

A big "welcome home" party was held for Dwight D. Eisenhower Monday night. During it the former president gave glimpses of an Eisenhower no one saw, or even suspected, during his eight years in the White House.

Who would have thought that Eisenhower, so long hovered over by Secret Service men, would give out autographs so generously that admirers would jam about him until it looked like a junior grade mob scene?

Leaps Nimble

Or that he would leap nimbly to his feet and, along with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, join a male chorus in singing a parody, "Jack the Knife," mildly poking fun at President Kennedy?

Or that he would have Negro waiters line up for him to shake hands in a personal demonstration of how Republicans can win friends and presumably influence voters?

Through it all, Eisenhower acted as if he were having a ball. This was a money-raising affair. Tickets cost $109.50, with $9.50 going for food and $100 going to the GOP.

Serious Moments

At such a price, there were serious moments, of course.

Eisenhower took a dim view of Kennedy's legislative plans.

"Now for the school program, I can't describe it, and the farm program that's been offered Congress, it's even more of a monstrosity," Eisenhower said.

He sized up the new administration thus:

"The picture of government, as I see it, is of a gigantic Santa Claus, and we're dancing around it."

Review Planning

One of Taylor's first tasks, it was understood, will be to review planning on what measures to take in the growing crisis over Soviet Premier Khrushchev's drive to push the West out of Berlin.

The Berlin problem is an old one for the four-star general who retired two years ago in protest against the Eisenhower administration's defense policies. Taylor was U.S. commander of Berlin during the 1949-51 period and again wrestled with the Berlin problem during his four years as Army chief of staff before leaving military service in 1959.

Berlin — "Berlin is defensible through our clear determination to go all out, if necessary, in any kind of a military operation which might be required by the situation. Berlin can be defended, and in my judgment it must be defended," he said in Senate testimony in March 1959.

Soviet power—"In the next four or five years there will be a dangerous imbalance of military strength in favor of Soviet Russia. It seems incredible that the Soviets will not capitalize in some way on their over-all superiority," he said in a Chicago speech 14 months ago.

Nixon's thesis: that Kennedy has failed in foreign affairs because he has been "talking big and acting little."

Encouraged Nik

This, Nixon insisted, encourages the Soviet Union's Nikita Khrushchev.

"Today we find Mr. Khrushchev is more arrogant, more cocky and more belligerent," Nixon said.

He got a big hand from the 1,500 diners when he added: "The eight years of Dwight Eisenhower were successful in keeping the peace, and keeping it without surrender of principle."

But mostly this was like an overgrown — and overly plush — neighborhood party.

Eisenhower was given a bust of himself.

Mrs. Eisenhower studied the bronze critically and then said: "It looks like he's got a lot of hair."

Eisenhower laughed so heartily that the place where his hair used to be got very red.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crisis over Berlin stands out today as Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor's first big problem when he dons his Army uniform again Saturday to become President Kennedy's military adviser.

The White House announced Monday that the 60-year-old former Army chief of staff and World War II paratroop commander is being recalled to active duty.

His assignment: Kennedy's adviser and staff officer primarily within the military and intelligence fields.

Camping Fees May Be Raised in State Parks

Senate Passes Bill Which Would Allow Conservation Commission to Up Charges

MADISON (AP) — The Senate Monday empowered the Conservation Commission to increase camping fees in state parks and forests.

The action came over the objections of Sen. Carl Lauri, D-Superior, who said raising fees would make them just too high for some campers. He blasted the commissioners as "armchair conservationists who only know how to keep charging more for things."

Present camping charges in Wisconsin are $1 a night per campsite and the Assembly bill leaves it up to the Conservation Commission to set new fee schedules. The commission next meets July 14 and it is unlikely fees will be raised this year.

State forester John Beale said Wisconsin's present campsite fee just about covers the cost of maintenance. Michigan and Minnesota also charge $1 per night and Beale said efforts are made to keep charges uniform.

Supporters of the Senate bill claim it will bring in $1.3 million in revenues for the conservation program.

Two new appointees to the conservation commission were confirmed by the Senate.

Shawano Man Seated

In a 21-8 vote, the Senate officially seated Jack J. Schumacher of Shawano as a replacement for Russell Stouffer of Shell Lake. James R. Smaby of La Crosse was confirmed as successor to Arthur McArthur of Janesville in a 22-7 vote.

The dissenters in both cases were Republicans.

A bill reducing residence requirements for fishing and hunting licenses from one year to six months was approved by the Assembly.

Also passed by the Assembly was a proposal to create a Mississippi River Parkway Planning Committee to aid in the development of the Great River Road.

The route is planned to run from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Assembly refused to consider a bill introduced by Richard Nowakowski, D-Milwaukee, which would prohibit Milwaukee County from banning carry-in beer at County Stadium. Nowakowski sought unanimous consent to suspend the Assembly rules in order to take up the bill immediately.

Redstone Ends Test Program

Last Practice Firing Occurs Monday After Eight-Year Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Redstone, the "old reliable" rocket which became America's first big ballistic missile, satellite booster and man-in-space vehicle, has ended its military test program after eight years.

The slender, 69-foot rocket experienced its final practice firing as a military weapon Monday night and it performed in characteristic fashion, smacking a target 200 miles down the Atlantic Range. The Army reported the success, 41st in 45 test launchings.

Only three more Redstones are scheduled to be fired from the Cape. These are modified rockets which will hoist three human astronauts on suborbital space flights similar to that of Alan B. Shepard Jr. on May 5. Shepard's space capsule hurtled 116 miles high and 302 miles down range.

As the Redstone blazed into a cloudy Florida night, Navy technicians sought the cause of a Polaris missile failure earlier in the day.

A second-stage malfunction plunged the Polaris into the ocean far short of its intended 1,600-mile goal after it was launched from a tube in the deck of the USS Observation Island. The missile, seven miles off the Florida shore. The failure was only the fourth in 13 firings of the "second generation" Polaris A2 model.

Cold War Quiets Down in Usually Turbulent East

Nasser-Summons Arab States to Join in New Neutralist Bloc

BY GEORGE WELLER
Chicago Daily News Service

ROME — No ministries are being blown up. No fighter planes are raiding frontiers. Even Arab abuse of the United States is quieter. Israel has the atom, but claims not to have the bomb. The petroleum cartel is broken.

The Middle East is having a breathing spell.

U. A. R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser summoned all the neutralist powers to Cairo to form a new middlemen's bloc, and has forwarded them all to Tito in Yugoslavia for a September meeting.

Iran is having a reform-wave under her new clean-sweeping prime Minister Ali Amini. The shah is willing.

Iraq's dictator, Abdel Karim Kassem, has tied up the Moscow Communists by recognizing a tame Communist Party of his own.

Israel's David Ben-Gurion, outgoing prime minister of a fallen government, is raising support outside Israel for his August elections.

Sooner or later, Adolf Eichmann will die.

And Jordan's King Hussein has

From the burning oil-rich sands of Saudi Arabia to the deadly alleys of the Algiers Cashah, from the lofty Iranian peaks that overlook the Soviet Union to the strife-scarred banks of the River Jordan, George Weller knows his Middle East.

married and settled down with the daughter of a British colonel.

U. S. Speaks

In this strange lull the United States, the perennial patsy, the target of endless mendacity and unbridled abuse, has a chance to say a word for itself. With the usual uproar stilled, the Middle East can listen.

The Soviets are not likely to interrupt. Nasser's abuse has been turned on them now, too.

The door is ajar. The United States has quietly passed Britain and Germany and become the biggest salesman of consumer goods to the Middle East.

Those climbing sales figures don't look like hatred — or boycott.

The trouble is that the United States doesn't know what to say. The pay-and-keep-quiet attitude has been in effect too long.

Money, yes; reform, no.

In Nasser's U.A.R., more than $100,000,000 of U.S. cash has been piled up in unused counterpart funds. It is accumulated by the sale — no gift — by Nasser to his people of wheat, cotton, turkeys and barley, paid for by the American taxpayer.

A top American diplomat told this correspondent, "Our economists in Washington have such a mad passion for 'clearing the books,' as they call it, that they are already reaching out to rub off these American credits by giving them to Nasser."

Nasser Knocks Aid

Such a move, in his opinion, would be wasteful anywhere, but downright mischievous in the U. A. R., where Nasser has continually depreciated American aid and exalted — until his sudden switch in June — the help from the Soviet Union.

Nasser has continually preached that "the Americans do not give us food and we owe them nothing. We buy from them."

All the diplomats want is that Washington accept Nasser on his own terms, and not encourage him, for doctrinaire or theoretical reasons, to transform this purchase into a gift.

What is to be done with the millions of U. S. credits frozen in Cairo that the Washington economists are so eager to "clear?"

The diplomat's answer is simple: Give a few millions back to the Egyptians to save the Abu Simbil caves on the Upper Nile, which are to be flooded by the Aswan Dam. And then wait.

In Turkey, as in the U.A.R., the United States has been subsidizing the same basically socialist, inefficient and economically inert economy that it opposes on the Soviet side of the Iron Curtain.

But because Turkey is an ally, the waste goes on.

The long, dollar-lavish snooze of the United States — building roads and ignoring the collectivized structure — was broken by last year's revolution.

The Americans found that the leader they trusted, Adnan Menderes, had invented a perfect system for milking American economists.

The policy was to take U. S. money, pour it into the four socialist state bank books whose never published books control all Turkey's enterprise, and thus "stimulate" the economy.

The result was scores of money-losing state factories, located where Menderes' followers would get the most jobs.

Now it's all reversed but it's all the same.

Menderes is out and the army and the opposition Republicans are in. The Turks have pulled their troops out of Korea, ignoring an American protest.

In the United States the Republicans are out and the Democrats are in.

Babies' Fingernails Can Be Source of Damage to Eyes

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. 'to be dangerous: Babies' finger-

It was one of those "silly little accidents." It happened to a friend of mine last month. His wife turned suddenly, with out-thrust hand, and one of her fingernails raked across his eyeball.

No, it didn't blind him. In fact, there has been no permanent damage.

The eye was very painful for a time, and badly bloodshot, but by a split fraction of an inch, the nail didn't cut deeply enough to cause serious harm.

After all, nature wisely set our eyes back within the protection of the skull and facial bones. A blow in the region of the eye is for the most part blocked by the bony structure. It is not, as a rule, a hard blow that damages the eye.

It is the penetration of something small, or the flicking motion — of a fingernail — that can reach in and touch the eyeball without being halted by the protective rim of bone around the eye.

Babies' Fingernails

But to get on with the moral of this session.

The ophthalmologist who treated my friend mentioned, in passing, a matter which he has found tion, exactly like Mr. Eisenhower's, is pushing ahead with a $120,000,000 steel plant. It's unnecessary because Turkey has another producing plant already under expansion.

But it's a fine prize for the American company that got the order without any competitive bid. And the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approves.

The most baffling thing about the United States, as seen from the Middle East, is that it doesn't seem to have made up its mind what really is the most efficient form of economy, much less the best form of government.

The more the Turkish and the U.A.R. leaders cripple the machinery of free production by state seizures or interference, the more unconditional help they get from the United States.

The United States, in other words, keeps betting on an economic horse that in principle it doesn't believe can win.

The American principles of large-scale ownership of small property, of divided ownership of productive enterprise through shares, are nowhere enunciated, nowhere explained, nowhere defended.

If the United States is so confused in its economics that it throws away money on inferior systems — asks the citizen of the Middle East — how can we trust its thinking in the politics of defense, that is, life itself?

Yes, that's right. Babies may (or may not) fuss at the simple process of trimming their nails. But the fact is that eye specialists have a substantial number of cases of damage caused by babies, flinging their arms around, and jabbing a finger in an adult's eye.

The small fingernails are very sharp. They can DO severe damage to eyes. So although it may sound like a small matter, I suggest that mothers keep them trimmed. No, don't try to cut them down to the shortest possible millimeter, but at least don't let the nails grow out with sharp corners. Those small and aimless fingers can be dangerous!

While we're on the subject, doesn't all this explain why, at times, I rant about the danger of air rifles, slingshots and other such childhood toys?

Toys Dangerous

Our boy children are understandably interested in air guns, slingshots, and like. But they are dangerous.

It may look like the dickens after Junior gets hit in the eye with a baseball, or another little boy's fist. However, the black eye will fade, and no lasting harm is done. But one little BB pellet that happens to hit the eye can destroy it forever.

Maybe we can't protect our beloved youngsters from all perils, but let's at least lean with restrained parental influence against the dangerous little things that, from time to time, happen to hit, and blind, an eye.

The same goes for any of the ingenious little plastic toys which, if small enough, and operated by springs or other motive power, can puncture the eye. I'm not against toys, and I'm not against fun. But after some of the "accidents" I've seen, I'm scared stiff.

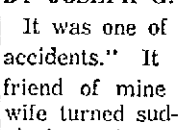

Allergic to Sun

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there such a thing as being allergic to the sun? Its rays seem to affect my equilibrium and at times my breathing. In the winter I feel better. —Mrs. R."

Yes, the ultra-violet rays sometimes do this. Personally I know of one man who has this trouble. I play golf with him, and he has to be careful. (Lupus erythematosus and some rare diseases also are aggravated by sunlight.)

MESSAGE TO M.C.S.: If you have Type A blood, yes, you've had it since birth. And there isn't any "portent." There are different types of blood, just as there are different colors of hair: red, black, brown, blonde. And there are blood types A, B, AB and O.

Mathematics Teachers Rewrite Textbooks

BY FRED GOLDEN

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Remember how dull arithmetic used to be?

Well, a friendly smile is being put on the old ogre of the classroom.

Not only arithmetic is being made more inviting. The entire range of grade and secondary school mathematics — from long division to solid geometry — is being revised under a far-reaching program.

Writing Session

Seventy teachers and specialists in mathematics begin another summer writing session at Yale today from which will spring some more of the texts and theories being developed under the program, sponsored by the School Mathematics Study Group.

Since the group started in 1958, it has distributed nearly 250,000 mathematics textbooks from the 4th to 12th grades. They have been used in classrooms across the country.

Foundation Impressed

The results have so impressed the National Science Foundation that it has provided $4 million in support of the program.

At this summer's session the group will prepare a revision of its eighth-grade text based on the actual classroom experience of the preceding semester.

How do the new texts actually differ from the traditional math books?

First, the language is more attractive and is designed to stimulate the student. Listen to this introduction to geometry:

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — "The strangest accident I've handled in almost four years with the department," muttered Jim Rudsell, police traffic accident investigator. These were the ingredients:

1. Take two women, one in each car.

3. Have both women wanting to back out of the driveways at the same time.

When buying a Diamond...

WHAT IS MEANT BY "CUTTING"? Gem cutting is a great art. Because a correctly cut and polished diamond has great refractory powers, it concentrates light and radiates an intense, flashing fire. The slightest variation from the ideal cutting of a diamond's tiny facets results in a reduction of this fire and brilliancy — and a lesser value for the finished diamond.

There is a "common sense" way to select your diamond — rely on the facts. Let us show you the overall picture of diamond value and quality. Take advantage of our vast gemological knowledge and experience. You'll find this is the wise way to select the diamond you'll be proud to give or own.

Danger in the South

Slowly and painfully, United States visitors to various Latin American countries are realizing that the appeal of Fidel Castro to the millions of uneducated and hungry people is having its effect. The danger of Communism in almost any of the lands to our south is great.

Those who claim that the main causes of Communism are hunger and poverty are not right. Ireland is poor and rigidly anti-Communist. Russia today has a much higher standard of living than many countries but the Red state is solidly entrenched. However, ignorance, hate, despair, fear and famine are contributing factors to the growth of rebellion. The Reds know well how to exploit the contrasts between wealth and poverty.

It is true today that a lot of the Latin American leaders realize the danger of Communist infiltration and the need to raise standards of living. But a great many of them have not moved to do anything. Parliaments stall on land reform programs that could make available United States funds. On paper the Latin American leaders condemned the late Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic because it was good politics to do so. They have not so condemned Fidel Castro principally for fear of reaction within their own countries.

Despite the statement from our United States Information Agency that Castro's tractors - for - prisoners deal disillusioned Latin Americans, there is little evidence that is true. Gary Maceoin, writing in the Catholic publication, The Sign says that "Castro electrified the innovators. When he first emerged as a hemisphere figure two years ago by proclaiming that his political victory was only a prelude to social revolution, his program was hailed by every member of this group, from the right-wing nationalists to the left-fringe Stalinists. . . . His apparent strength is frightening." Some of the intellectuals have fallen away from worship, according to Maceoin, but the uneducated masses continue to adore him fanatically. "There has been little counter-propaganda," Maceoin criticizes Latin American leaders, the disillusioned intellectuals, and the Roman Catholic church "because of the rigidly traditional attitudes of the clergy." Education and improved living standards must come, he warns, or Communism will.

There is no simple formula for helping backward people leap the gap of several centuries without violence. But we dare not any longer close our eyes to the threats so close to home. Cuba we can take any Monday morning, as the saying goes, but not all of Latin America. Just as the collapse of opposition in Laos may mean the fall of South East Asia to the Reds, so our failure to keep Cuba free means an increased threat to every nation in this hemisphere.

Old, Old Story

Times, weapons and the weather change, it seems, but people do not. Irvin Scarbeck, a second secretary in our embassy in Poland, fell for one of the oldest and apparently still most successful espionage devices. He became enamored of a beautiful spy and didn't dare tell his wife.

Scarbeck was not a top man in the embassy and authorities have hastily insisted that he did not have access to top-secret documents. How much information

Back to the State

The decision of the United States Supreme Court in refusing to judge the constitutionality of Connecticut's law prohibiting the sale of contraceptives or the distribution of birth control information was based upon the "abstract" nature of the cases brought before it. Five of the justices ruled that the suit was "not fit for adjudication" but they did not say whether they believed the law unconstitutional.

A Connecticut doctor brought the suit for the benefit of two married women patients who, he said, would endanger their lives if they had more children. The law, according to the doctor, prevented him from giving the women the best medical advice which he considered would be to obtain and use contraceptives.

In refusing to rule, the majority of the court pointed out that the law is pretty well ignored by both the public and law enforcement agencies in the state. In the more than three-quarters of a century in which it has been on the statute books, only one prosecution ever was begun. Justice Frankfurter said the Court had been told that contraceptives were "commonly and notoriously sold in Connecticut drugstores." Justice Brennan, agreeing with Justice Frankfurter, said that "the true controversy in this case is over the opening of birth control clinics on a large scale; it is that which the state has prevented in the past, not the use of contraceptives by isolated and individual married couples. It will be time enough to decide the constitutional questions urged upon us when, if ever, that real controversy flares up again."

Since the majority of the justices believed this particular suit was contrived, it probably is just as well that they refused to deal with it. But the legislature of Connecticut ought to be concerned that it has a law upon its books that is ignored and defied. If the real aim of the law today is to prevent birth control clinics, as Justice Brennan alleged, the law should say so and be argued accordingly.

And the legislators also should mull over Justice Douglas' dissenting opinion. "Can there be any doubt that a bill of rights that in time of peace bars soldiers from being quartered in a home 'without the consent of the owner', should also bar the police from investigating the intimacies of the marriage relation? The idea of allowing the state that leeway is congenial only to a totalitarian regime."

Missile Base Strikes Sordid Tale of Greed

From The New York Herald-Tribune

It's a sordid tale of selfishness and greed the McClellan subcommittee has been unfolding in its hearings on missile base construction.

These bases add up to one of the largest, most intricate and most demanding construction jobs in history. They are also one of the most pressingly urgent: without bases, the missiles might as well not be built, and the nation's stake in these missiles needs no re-emphasis here.

Testimony about actual weekly pay at construction sites has put the bases boondoggle in dramatic focus: $413 to $670 a week for electricians; $420 to $733 a week for plumbers and pipefitters — with taxpayers footing the bill. This included overtime at up to four times base pay.

But the pay checks themselves were less a disgrace than the behavior of local unions. From the start of the base-building program through March 31, 1961, there were 327 major work stoppages at the 22 sites; in 1960 alone, 84,000 man-days were lost through strikes. A lot of these were petty jurisdictional disputes. Some, according to documentary evidence produced by the subcommittee, were called to force agreements to pay unnecessary overtime. Construction has fallen months behind schedule.

Liberal Group Finds Member In Far Right

From The St. Louis Post Dispatch

The League for Industrial Democracy — a liberal organization founded in 1905 by Upton Sinclair, Jack London and Clarence Darrow, among others — has discovered a new member in good standing. He is Robert Welch, founder of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society. To the League, this is comparable to finding a turkey in the hen house. Mr. Welch may be expelled though we hope not. The League can withstand exposure to Mr. Welch's ideas. And Mr. Welch is so insistent that the United States is a republic, not a democracy, that a little exposure to a democratic organization can do him no harm. —

Entire Country Will Suffer If Auto Workers Go on Strike

From The Chicago Tribune

Just about the last thing the country needs this year is a strike in the auto industry, but there is more and more talk about the possibility of just such a strike. The present contracts between the United Auto Workers union and the major companies expire Aug. 31. Negotiations for new contracts will begin June 28, and once again the industry representatives will face the insatiable Mr. Reuther, armed as usual with flamboyant demands and ready as ever to call a strike.

Mr. Reuther has already given us a vague but ominous idea of what he is going to demand, and it boils down to more of just about everything. He also wants annual salaries for union workers instead of hourly wages. The business upturn will no doubt encourage him to press his demands more vigorously than he did at the last encounter, which took place during the 1958 recession.

Even Secretary Goldberg, who himself helped to map union strategy in the 1959 steel strike, has found it necessary to warn that an auto strike would be "contrary to the interests of the American people" and that the administration will not tolerate it.

Indeed, the effects of such a strike would go far beyond the auto industry. It would, in particular, knock the steel industry back into the sickbed from which it is just beginning to arise after being laid up by its own strike, by a year of sluggish business, and, for a time, by a threatening rise in the purchase of steel products from abroad.

The auto industry buys about one-fifth of our steel output. An auto strike would reduce steel output to the low level which Mr. Reuther himself has described as stagnation, and would very likely sabotage the economie recovery for which Mr. Reuther himself has been pressing.

But consistency is not one of Mr. Reuther's virtues. He is for big government, except when government's desire for wage stability conflicts with the demands of the United Auto Workers. He is for a vigorous speed-up in economic growth, except when the threat to call a strike serves his own purpose.

We don't know what Mr. Goldberg proposes to do if a strike

Housing Bill to Help Depressed City Areas

From The Newark Evening Times

A housing bill calling for new spending authority of nearly $3.2 billion over a number of years has been recommended by President Kennedy. Of that amount, approximately a billion would be spent by mid-1965. But for the next fiscal year, Congress was asked to add about $300 million to the $728

President Eisenhower requested for housing in January.

For what Mr. Kennedy has in mind, his request does not seem unreasonable. The measure calls for accelerated programs for low-cost housing, urban renewal, housing for the elderly and 40-year no-down-payment FHA mortgages for moderate income families. These are substantially the items discussed in Mr. Ken-

Looking Backward

Marching Badgers Impressive

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 4, 1861.

Washington, June 25, 1861 — This morning at 5 o'clock, the Second Regiment of the Wisconsin Volunteers came marching through the streets, its mellow music bringing many a head from the pillow to the window.

Two and two they came, sweeping past in quick and soldierly step. The Badger boys have a uniform of a well-tempered gray. Their outfit seemed complete, and their guns were held with an ease that indicated they were as accustomed to handling them as a mother her babe.

Troops must not expect that they will or can be received here as well as they are generally through the country and the cities where they pass in coming. The people in the country, where they see comparatively few soldiers, are able to give their good food, fresh butter and milk and all manner of "chicken fixings."

Here, where a new regiment is only one of 50, it must be a "common doing." There is, of course, not now the novelty which there was when troops first came, but there should be a large reception room right at the depot where the new incoming troops can be met by officials and waited on by plenty of servants until they are refreshed by a good wash, a good table, and, if possible, a good sleep. Then let them seek their camp on the tented field.

I could not see the banners of the Wisconsin boys because they carried them furled, but I warrant that when there is need of fighting, those banners will be unfurled and will be borne by and followed by stalwart men. (Written by the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune.)

Sales Tax Measure Political Masterpiece

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — For those who are willing to accept the idea of a retail sales tax, the measure now before the legislature is perhaps as artfully contrived to suit the political circumstances of the moment as could be had.

It skillfully meets the classical objection about burdens upon the moderate and low earners by offering an income tax credit, or refund.

It devotes a substantial, if not dramatic share of the proceeds to the cause of real property tax relief, which must make it worthy of consideration at the least among those in the high tax municipalities of Wisconsin who are wondering how much more the local tax levies can be permitted to rise.

And, - characteristically in a Wisconsin legislature, it delivers the most generous boons to the farmers of the state, those politically attentive and powerful fellows who retain a punch in the halls of the legislators in Madison that is considerably out of proportion to their declining numbers.

KASAKAITAS

The sales tax now before the lawmakers, indeed, is a kind of monument to the persistence and the persuasion of Bill Kasakaitas, the diligent lobbyist of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation.

If anybody can claim authorship of a bill that was hammered together from the parts of many measures during the Republican caucuses of the last few weeks, The Federation agent's claims are better than most. His trademark is plainly to be seen, for example, in the pledge for complete elimination of the personal property tax, which would perhaps be the greatest gift that the Wisconsin farmer could get from this legislature or any legislature.

Wisconsin has a livestock farm economy. The contented cows in the pastures along the roadside represent a substantial tax liability for their owners that the farm producer in Dakota or Michigan would not have.

A farmer with a herd of 30 cows in a typical taxing district might be required to pay $200 in personal property taxes. The sales tax would wipe out that liability entirely — as well as the personal property taxes of the merchants and manufacturers, on their stocks and inventories, in the cities.

The farmer will also get some gain from the general property tax cut that is promised for the typical district, and the income tax credit of $9 per person which is wrapped up in the sales tax package. Perhaps a professional dairyman might gain to the extent of $300 in a tax year. He would be paying some sales taxes, but this measure also thoughtfully exempts the bulk of his purchases, such as the seeds, feeds, fertilizers and other raw materials required for his production operation. That $300 would represent $10,000 of taxable purchases at a three per cent sales tax rate, which would be fairly high for the average farm producer.

COMPROMISES

The tax revision bill is a bundle of political compromises, designed to fit the unique political circumstances that prevail. The Republican legislature could never be persuaded, for example, to enact an income tax withholding law if left to its own devices. Indeed, there are some Republicans now sitting in Madison who will be dragged into voting for it, protesting loudly that it is against their principles. But the concession is probably necessary to persuade Gov. Nelson to accept the sales tax against his own wishes, and in defiance of the powerful pressures within his own political following.

Nor is there any assurance that such political concessions will be sufficient, that the governor will dare to offend his own most valued backers — financial and otherwise. It is one of the great gambles in the history of Wisconsin politics, and if the Republicans bring it off and put their bill on the governor's desk, it will represent one of the most difficult challenges the governor, or any governor of Wisconsin, has ever faced.

Lawrence Says

Cold War May Be Solved by 'Quarantine'

Columnist Suggests That Allies Act to Isolate Soviets

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The world is talking of war over Berlin—as if there may be no other way out. But there is a way, and it does not involve the firing of a single shot.

Lawrence

It is a way that was proclaimed in the famous "quarantine" speech in October 1937 by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. If it had been accepted then by America's allies, there might have been no second World War. The idea behind the policy was stated by Mr. Roosevelt as follows:

"It seems unfortunately true that the epidemic of world lawlessness is spreading.

"When an epidemic of physical disease starts to spread, the community approves and joins in a quarantine of the patients in order to protect the health of the community against the spread of the disease."

Require Courage
It would, of course, require courage and determination, plus a sacrifice on the economic side, to apply an effective "quarantine." But that's far less painful than the destruction of human life in a nuclear war.

The formula means today a notification by the West to the Soviet Union that, if it moves to violate any of the agreements—such as on the status of Berlin—entered into by the allies with Russia at the close of World War II, then all wartime agreements will be considered subject to revision.

This could mean a pronouncement that the Russian zone in Germany—and, indeed, the power the Soviet Union exercises over Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Albania, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia—would no longer be recognized. Diplomatic relations would be severed and ambassadors or ministers withdrawn from every country behind the Iron Curtain with which the United States or its allies maintain diplomatic relations. This would also frustrate any plans to recognize Red China.

No More Trade
All trade with the Soviet Union would be embargoed, and all embassies, legations and consulates in the United States and in allied countries would be closed and their personnel ordered to leave. Latin American countries would be invited to join the embargo, and those countries which failed to do so would run the risk of having embargoes imposed against them.

Make Sacrifice
The practical question that must be answered first, however, is whether the allies are willing to make the sacrifice necessary to carry out a "quarantine" policy. It would mean a blow to the economy of Europe and would, of course, disrupt trade in various parts of the world. But the loss for a short time of material things which are replaceable would be far better for the world than the irreparable loss of millions of lives.

It was precisely this dilemma which faced the allies in the 1930's, but the desire to maintain trade and the economic equilibrium prevented the allies from coming to an agreement with each other. Trading with a potential enemy is sometimes carried on up to the outbreak of war. The western allies, for instance, traded with Hitler and sold him raw materials for armaments up to almost the last few weeks before war broke out in 1939. Back in World War I, the British traded with Germany even during the war by way of neutral Sweden, and only pressure from the United States stopped that traffic.

Study Use
Certainly the allies might well begin to study the possible use of this economic weapon and start consultations with each other. This would have far more effect on Moscow than all the talk of sending an extra division or two to western Europe or the type of military mobilization which is being suggested in the press.

The whole communist strategy in the Cold War, moreover, depends on the exchange of great quantities of Russian gold for British pounds and American dollars. Shutting off such exchange could stop the flow of money to the huge army of communist agents around the world, and could undo all that has been accomplished by the communists in southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America as well as inside western Europe. A "quarantine" of the communist area would be costly, but it would not cost lives or cause the destruction that a nuclear war surely would bring.

Neenah Stages Real Community Theater

Recreation Department's Riverside Players Schedule Fifth Season in Beautiful Setting

BY JINGO
In the recent list of summer theater fare available to Fox Cities area fans, the only really community theater was withheld for special mention.

Five years ago, the Neenah Recreation Department organized a theater group for summer productions in a beautiful setting at Riverside Park.

The city was fortunate to have at Neenah High School a drama enthusiast who knew that the talents of a community only can be tapped to their fullest by a challenging program. Kenneth Anderson set a precedent for the Riverside Players to stage worthwhile shows, classic in the academic sense and traditionally classic through years of popular acceptance.

Each year the Players staged four productions, some double headers; so the Players have to their credit 30 plays by such giants as Shaw, Williams, Saroyan, Chekov, Barrie and Lady Gregory.

That is a list creditable for any college or repertory company. The Riverside Players, however, have as their policy wide open auditions and have staged and these shows with absolute neophytes as well as a handful of actors who can tell their right hand from their left and where up and down are.

Italians Find Four Lines of Roman History

Archaeologists in Israel Unearth Slab With Pilate Marking

CAESAREA, Israel (AP) — Archaeologists are trying to decipher four lines of Latin on a limestone slab in an effort to learn a little more about Pontius Pilate, the Roman procurator of Judea who ordered the crucifixion of Christ.

The slab, found recently in this ancient capital of the Romans in Palestine on the eastern Mediterranean coast, bears the words "Tus Pilata" — the Latin name for Pilate.

Archaeologists and biblical scholars called it the first archaeological evidence of Pilate. Previously he was known only through the gospels and the writings of the Jewish historian Josephus Flavius.

Prof. Antonio Frova, field director of the Italian archaeological mission which unearthed the slab, said in an interview it is the most important single find made by the Italian team during the three seasons it has been working in the area, about 10 miles south of Haifa.

Frova said efforts will be pushed to learn more from the greyish, rectangular — shaped slab, which measures about 32 inches long, 24 inches wide and 6 inches thick.

It was found in the ruins of a Roman theater which once seated about 5,000. The theater had been laid bare since 1959, but the stone went unnoticed until an Israeli worker assigned to clean it recently came across the Latin lettering.

The stone is only partly preserved and the inscription is incomplete. Of the four lines, on the preserved part, the word "Tiberium" is discernible on the first line. Frova assumes the stone was used to dedicate the theater to the emperor Tiberius, who ascended the throne in 14 A.D. Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea from 26 A.D. to 36 A.D. Pilate's name appears on the

This season will rank with any other four, with this addition: in line with practically every other theater group in the area, the Riverside Players will bring music to their repertoire. The season opens July 13 for a three-day stand of Moliere's "The School for Wives," embellished by music. "Visit to a Small Planet" will serve as the middle production from Aug. 3 to 5, and the season will end with Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore," a full-fledged operetta, Aug. 24-26.

The first three seasons of the Players were under the tutelage of Kenneth Anderson. Last season Richard Willis, late of Lawrence College and the Harlequin Players now with Kimberly-Clark Corp., was the director last season. This year the director's chair will be passed around. Mrs. Willis, as experienced on stage as her husband, will have the first chance. Mrs. H. W. Harker will do the comedy and Anderson will handle the Gilbert and Sullivan.

With the Players' organization, their policy of producing the finest of dramas and their outstandingly beautiful outdoor pavilion stage in Riverside Park, they are as close to unique as you will be able to find.

It is reported the Altic Theater has dipped into the Neenah talent pool for the lead of its big production "Anything Goes." Mrs. John Mering is said to have Ethel Merman's role pinned down. It will be Mrs. Mering's first serious foray behind the footlights.

second line. Little can be made of the next two lines, but Frova hopes modern archaeological techniques can bring out the original chiseling.

Frova said the stone probably was cut from limestone taken from nearby Mount Carmel. After its original use, it probably served as building material when the theater was reconstructed in the late Roman period several centuries after Pontius Pilate's death.

The Italian team and its 100 Israeli helpers have excavated hundreds of granite and marble columns at Caesarea, founded by King Herod about 35 B.C. and named in honor of Augustus Caesar.

Here a Group of Cub Scouts and their leader listen to stories of the circus in front of the poster display at the Circus World Museum at Baraboo. These story sessions, conducted by capable circus historians, are available at all times at the state museum, open every day from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 through Oct. 15. The museum is one of the five historic sites owned and operated by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin.

Fairgrounds Under Repair At West Allis

Rejuvenation projects at Wisconsin State park in West Allis are mounting into hundreds of tons of rock and other materials and paint by the hundreds of gallons. The goal is to put the 185-acre area in shape for the 111th State Fair, Aug. 11 through Aug. 20.

Workmen have finished removing a built-up roof on the general exhibits building, carting away an estimated 133 tons of refuse from four layers more than two inches in thickness. A new roof covering 44,540 square feet will consist of fiber glass, sealer and mastic layer only a half-inch thick.

Parking lots and portions of the six-acre tract to be occupied by the Royal American Shows are getting a new surfacing treatment involving more than 1,500 tons of crushed stone, chips and dust binder. The surfacing operation in the southwest corner of the fairgrounds involved leveling more than 200 truckloads of dirt brought in from outside the grounds.

Twelve spinner top guide signposts are being prepared for key points to guide State Fair visitors through the revised layout. With the new mall yet to be landscaped and lighted, the wiring, sewer and water connections for four acres in the mall and an adjacent outdoor living show are being installed.

Paint crews are refinishing nearly 4,000 chair seats in the grandstand where a total of 14,310 seats are under cover. The painting schedule to be completed before the fair opens includes the trim on the east and west cattle barns, the horse barn, farm crops glorifying barn guys, as the original and youth exhibit building, really old newspapermen exposing organized crime.

Actor Explains Why He's Living In Switzerland

Expatriate Holden Says Location Aids International Career

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie TV Writer
STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The voice had the familiar, warmly American tone. But William Holden seemed to have an added quality of worldly awareness.

I hadn't seen him in three years. During that time he had chosen, like many creative Americans in the 1920s, to be an expatriate. But unlike the Hemingways and Fitzgeralds, his absence has brought storms of protest. Bill Holden prowled his hotel suite and explained why he has changed his residence from Toluca Lake, Calif., to St. Prex, Switzerland.

Some of his arguments were familiar—that the central Swiss location gives him more home life between his farflung enterprises (a safari club in Kenya, radio station in Hong Kong, acting jobs all over). For instance, he will stop off home between finishing "Counterfeit Traitor" here and starting "The Devil Never Sleeps" in London.

It is no accident that Bill's pictures have an international flavor. "That's what interests me; that's where I think I can do some good," he said. "The stories I look for are ones that show an American in an international situation. They're the ones that make money, and I'm not out to make producers lose."

"I've tried the strictly American films like 'Toward the Unknown' and 'The Horse Soldiers.' They don't sell. But something like 'Suzie Wong,' which some people scoffed at, is headed for $10 million."

Holden lives in a chalet (with his furniture from the San Fernando Valley) along with his wife, Ardis, and their two sons, Wes, 17, and Scott, 15. They boat and water ski, attend the theater in nearby Lausanne but see few movies — "They're dubbed in French and are pretty miserable."

The boys go to a Swiss school — "They're brighter than other American boys their age." As to their having American roots, Holden said their early years provided that. The plan is for them to return to the United States for two years of college, then get their degrees in Europe.

Name Changed for Fall Action Series

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC has changed the title of its new fall action series from "The Corruptors" to "Target: The Corruptors." Obviously the network doesn't want the public (or the FCC) to think it will be a series glorifying bad guys, as the original name suggested, when it is really about newspapermen exposing organized crime.

Garry Moore Sees Early Change in Programs on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—TV entertainer Garry Moore told a federal hearing today television is coming to the end of a trend—"the same-ness is beginning not to pay off"—and a new trend must be found. Testifying at a Federal Communications Commission hearing, he said he believed television actually is at a "kind of hopeful time," but that the main problem facing the industry is the lack of creative talent.

He described talent as writers, performers and the like and said there was "not nearly enough for the hours that have to be programmed."

Moore, who heads two CBS shows, "I've Got a Secret," and "The Garry Moore Show," spent some time in discussing his authority to control his shows.

In a dozen years with CBS, he told the hearing, he had never been coerced. "Ultimately, I have complete control," he said, adding:

"I have the right, and so exercise it, to say 'I don't think we should do this,' or 'we should do something else.'"

Big name personalities develop power to control their programs or resist outside control, but "it doesn't happen when you're a kid," Moore said.

Network Passes Out King-Sized Loot to Program Contestants

Although CBS is sticking to its decision to limit its prizes to small amounts in its game and audience participation shows (top prize on "What's My Line?" after all these years is still $50) NBC has been passing out some king-sized loot to its contestants.

During the past two weeks, Mrs. Hazel Scott of Maplewood, N. J., on night-time "Concentration" has won — among other lesser items — a 21-foot cabin cruiser, a 1961 sports car, a home in Florida, a color TV set, a white mink stole, 12 $100 savings bonds, $50 a week for a year and a trip around the world for two people.

It's very hard to say how much money this represents because emcee Hugh Downs very carefully avoids putting price tags on the items as they are picked off by the lucky winners.

And a spell back, a contestant "The Price is Right" received merchandise valued at $63,000, are contingent upon.

Nancy Olson Returns to Hollywood

Actress Works In Movies During Children's Vacations

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nancy Olson was on the road to stardom 10 years ago but she quit Hollywood for New York, marriage and motherhood.

Now she's back on what seems a contingency basis. "From May to September, when I can bring my children to California, I'm anxious to work. During the winter we live in New York and the kids go to school."

The actress is co-starring with Fred McMurray in the comedy, "The Absent-Minded Professor."

Stage Work
During her stay in the East, she played on Broadway in "Tun-nels of Love." But she doubts if she'll do more stage work. "After several months of doing the same play, I found myself becoming bored."

Her role in Disney's "Pollyanna" also is starting a musical career. She's been offered a chance to do an album. She went from the UCLA campus to a long-term movie contract that included a role in "Sunset Boulevard" and won her an Academy Award.

Now divorced from playwright Alan Jay Lerner, she has two children. That's what her movie roles are contingent upon.

South Wins Civil War in Toy Sales

Confederate Gray Outsell Union Blue In Flags, Hats, Ships

BY RICHARD H. HOENIG

NEW YORK (AP)—On the basis of the nation's kids' taste in toys, the South won the Civil War. The fact is clear from early returns that toys decorated with the Confederate flag or colored gray are outselling by far the Union blue models in this Civil War centennial year. This applies to hats as well as dolls and models of 100-year-old sloops of war.

"It's a strange thing, all right. But when you're in sales you don't worry about the psychology," said Tom Slater, sales manager of Benay-Albee Novelty Co., Inc. "More Rebels

"Maybe there are just more rebels in the country," he guessed. Slater's Maspeth, L.I., firm specializes in novelty hats. Its gray Confederate officers hat and plain cap are outselling the Union numbers 2-1.

Benay-Albee is one of a dozen or so major manufacturers who have gone in big for Civil War centennial promotions.

Their products include costumes, all types of war games, play sets and a full array of weapons from revolver and pistol through carbine, rifle and cannon.

Top Shipments Up

The Toy Manufacturers Association of the U.S., a trade group, reported shipments of members for the first four months were 11 per cent above the similar 1960 period. Orders received were up about the same amount.

"If orders are any indication the South won the Civil War," said Al Rubin, national sales manager for Revell, Inc., Venice, Calif. maker of plastic hobby kits. The company's model of the hind, dead, wounded or captured. That apparent defeat, coupled with a defeat at Vicksburg, Miss., was enough to stimulate a "hands off" policy of foreign powers.

Gettysburg was a turning point in the long, gory Civil War. The South, tired, and running out of materials for war and peace, too, had long out-generated the North. But soon to come was a hard, tough pair of Union generals who would put an end to it — Gen. Ulysses S. Grant and Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman.

The lush, green grass of the Gettysburg battlefield is lovely, but no man can escape the horrors of thinking back to what took place here.

It is very much different from the description given three days later by a battle-weary Col. Frank Haskell of Portage, Wis., who wrote to his brother, thus:

"The spade and the shovel . . . had done their work . . . but still one might see, under some concealing bush or sheltering rock, what had once been a man, and the thousands of stricken horses lay scattered as they had died.

Tell of Battle

" . . . great numbers of bent and splintered muskets, rent knapsacks and haversacks, bruised canteens, shreds of caps, coats, trousers of gray or blue cloth, worthless belts, and cartridge boxes, broken wheels, smashed timbers, shattered gun carriages, parts of harness, of all that men or horses wear or use in battle, were scattered over miles of the field . . .

"Along the enemy's position where our shells and shot had struck during the cannonade . . . the trees had cast their trunks and branches as if they had been icicles shaken by a blast . . . Along the slope of Culp's Hill . . . the trees were almost literally peeled from the ground up some 15 or 20 feet, so thick upon them were the scars the bullets had made. The ground was covered with little twigs that had been cut off by the hailstorm of lead.

"All along through these bullet-scarred woods were interspersed little patches of fresh earth, raised a foot or so above the surrounding ground. Some were near the front of the works; and nearby on a tree whose bark had been peeled with an axe, written in red chalk would be the words, not in fine handwriting, "75 Rebels buried here." And so on. Such was the burial and epitaph of many of those famous men, once led by the mighty Stonewall Jackson. Oh, this damned rebellion will make brutes of us all if it is not soon quelled."

Today, except for visitors there is not much activity in Gettysburg, but neither is there at Pipe Springs.

TV Industry Looks With Interest at Talent Associates

After all of David Susskind's criticism of TV during his testimony before the Federal Communications Commission hearing last week, it will be interesting to see how much business—if any—his independent packaging agency, Talent Associates, is able to line up for the three major networks next season.

Susskind has made a hobby of sounding off about the low state of TV programming over the years, but he has never had such a good forum before. He made the most of it.

Actually, Susskind has not had a particularly successful season this year. His "Family Classics" series, which started out as two-part shows on successive nights, dwindled down to one-hour shows. "Way out," the off-beat series launched recently, will not last the summer, and NBC is quietly stewing about his forthcoming "Great Ghost Story" summer series, due to start early next month, but still very much in the planning stage.

You Said How Long?

'Revisions Needed In State Tax Bill'

Gronouski Says Measure Must Have Technical Amendments

MADISON (AP) — State tax commissioner John A. Gronouski said Monday that major technical revisions are necessary in the Republican tax revision bill scheduled for a public hearing Thursday.

Gronouski said he already has talked with Republican legislative leaders and expects a number of amendments to the bill will be offered this week.

"The bill just doesn't say what they mean it to say," Gronouski commented after he and other tax experts had studied the measure during the weekend.

It will be impossible for the tax department staff to have any detailed information about the impact of the GOP tax plan ready for Thursday's hearing, Gronouski said. The bill was introduced in the Legislature only last Wednesday.

Some breakdown might be available on the effects of the three per cent sales tax and the projected cut in income surtax, Gronouski said. But it will be two or three weeks before the effects of the whole tax package on individual Wisconsin taxpayers will be worked out, he added.

Gronouski said one problem with the GOP tax bill in its present form is an apparent inconsistency involving the credit refund feature. That would give a $9-per-person income tax credit to offset the effects of the sales tax on lower income groups.

Reduce Share
The bill itself indicates that such refunds to individual taxpayers would reduce their community's share of state funds distributed to ease local property tax levies. But financial data with the bill indicate there would be no such reduction, said Gronouski.

Property tax relief schedules called for in the bill are another stumbling block seen by the tax commissioner.

"The dates simply can't be met," said Gronouski.

Another problem is that the Republican bill does not spell out the method of distributing proposed new state revenues to local communities. Wisconsin's constitution prohibits a debt of more than $100,000 and any distribution formula must insure that the state does not go in the red for more than that amount on even a temporary basis.

Republican leaders also reported difficulties arising in preparation of a bank tax bill sponsors want considered as part of the general tax revision proposal. The GOP had hoped to have the banking measure ready for introduction by Wednesday so that the joint finance committee, which is holding the revision bill hearing Thursday, could be told its provisions.

French Farmers Ask More Money

PARIS (AP) — Demonstrations of angry farmers erupted across central France Monday adding a new punch to the growers' demands for a new deal in the national economy.

Roadblocks and snail-paced tractor parades which stalled or slowed highway traffic were set up at points from Grenoble in the Alpine sector of eastern France to La Rochelle on the Atlantic coast. The farmers are pressing demands for a larger share of consumer prices.

Indonesian Rebel Gives Himself Up

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesian Army Col. Achmad Hussein, who spearheaded the Sumatran revolt against President Sukarno three years ago, surrendered in the mountain town of Solok, West Sumatra, the state radio announced today.

It said Achmad "returned to the fold of the republic" Friday with an unknown number of troops. The top rebel chief in the Celebes, Col. Kawilarang, capitulated last month with 30,000 troops.

Soviet Ship Captain Complains of Buzzing

LONDON (AP) — The captain of a Soviet freighter complained Monday he was buzzed by U.S. Navy planes off Windward Passage in the West Indies, Moscow radio said.

The freighter, Partizan Bonevur was bound for the Black Sea port of Odessa with a cargo of Cuban sugar.

Doesn't Like Taft Law
The President, invoking the law with reluctance, said the maritime strike had proved again the need for more flexible procedures to handle a national strike.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, whose report on the strike preceded the President's order, felt a clear distaste for the use of the Taft-Hartley law. As general counsel to the United Steelworkers Union in 1959, Goldberg had waged a long fight against President Eisenhower's use of the law in trying to end a steel strike.

In appointing the fact-finding board, Kennedy relied heavily on Goldberg's counsel and named the same three men the labor secretary had appointed last week as a citizens panel to seek a solution.

Senate Approval Seen For Higher Debt Limit

The House approved the bill Monday.

Judge Gets Rid Of Extra Chief In State City

Greenwood Has Had Extra Patrolman Since July 1

NEILLSVILLE (AP) — Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss has resolved the law enforcement problem at Greenwood, a Clark County community with "too many police chiefs and no patrolmen."

He ruled Monday that Joseph Staresinic holds legal title to the post as chief—and the town's only patrolman.

Since the first of the month, Staresinic and Leonard Braatz, who had returned from Milwaukee, were hospitalized with brain injuries.

Staresinic wore his uniform and carried city equipment while Braatz wore civilian garb and had a borrowed gun.

Staresinic had been appointed by the mayor, with the city council's approval, to serve as chief for a one year term ending July 1, 1961.

A stalemate developed on June 1 when the mayor and council disagreed on renaming Staresinic and the council voted to hire Braatz, who had returned from Milwaukee.

Judge Beilfuss ruled that the mayor has sole power of appointment but his choices must be approved by the council. He also ruled that until the mayor and council agree, Staresinic will hold over as chief.

The court set July 31 for trial of the will contest.

Mrs. Colbert was named administrator after she reported Miss Davis, who died May 23, had left no will.

Russians Warn Of Necessity for German Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev said Monday night the Soviet Union "will do everything" to have a German peace treaty signed by the end of the year.

This latest in his series of warnings on the German issue was included in a message to Communist East German leaders.

The message, signed by the Soviet premier and President Leonid Brezhnev, was in reply to a routine East German telegram sent on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union.

Cost of Living Showed Slight Decline in May one of the smallest year-to-year rises since World War II.

Myers said that in the last 12 months the index has risen seven times, declined twice, and remained unchanged three times.

The net spendable earnings of factory workers continued to rise, as did their buying power. A longer work week and higher hourly pay, both attributable to the business recovery, boosted spendable earnings for the third month in a row.

After deduction of federal income and Social Security taxes, the average factory worker with three dependents had a pay check of $82.44 a week, a gain of about $5 cents over April.

The take home pay of the average worker with no dependents was $74.85.

All the increase in earnings represented increased buying power because of the very slight change in the index. Compared with May, 1960, spendable earnings were up about $1 and buying power was up one-half of one per cent.

Meat prices dropped for the fourth month in a row, reflecting ample supplies and the sharp competition of poultry. Poultry prices hit their lowest level since World War II, roughly 31 per cent below the average price in 1947.

Nearly all beef, pork and lamb products decreased, bringing meat prices to about the year-ago level. A 3.3 per cent drop in egg prices occurred despite heavy government purchase of dried eggs, and dairy products prices generally were down.

O'Brien Sees No Vote on Bonus Bill

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Legislature will not act this session on a veterans' bonus bill, Sen. Leo O'Brien predicted on the floor Monday.

The Green Bay Republican is sponsor of a measure calling for a $155 million expenditure to veterans in the next four years, the program to be financed through a two per cent boost in the state surtax on incomes.

The cost of the proposed bonuses in the coming biennium is estimated at around $90 million.

"I don't think the bill will worry the Senate this year," O'Brien said in reply to remarks by Sen. William Draheim, R-Neenah, who had called the attention of the chamber to appropriation bills still pending.

O'Brien heads the Senate Governmental and Veterans' Affairs Committee which now holds the bill.

Nelson Joins in Requesting Funds for Urban Preserves

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin joined the heads of four other states Monday in urging Congress to provide a $100 million matching fund for preservation of urban spaces.

The quintet asked Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Rep. Albert Rains, D-Ala., to help restore the fund to the administration's housing bill.

The Alabamians are members of a Senate-House conference committee seeking to reconcile differences in the measure as it passed both houses. The House approved the $100 million fund, but the Senate did not.

Over-65 Group Untapped Market

BY SYLVIA PORTER

One of every 11 Americans today is 65 years of age or older, a rise of 236 per cent since 1920 to a total of 17,000,000. As more 'miraculous' advances are made in the conquest of diseases of the middle years, the explosion in our population of senior citizens will dwarf even the spectacular forecast of another doubling in this age group in the next 40 years.

Despite this obvious potential for the U.S. businessman, though, the typical businessman ignores the older consumer. As the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank pointed out in a recent study strikingly entitled "After the Gold Watch," merchants willingly "take their money but few manufacturers and retailers have yet made an effort to develop the over-65 market."

Of the millions of Americans 65 and over, 55 per cent are women and of those 85 and over, 65 per cent are women. What's more, a huge number of these women are alone; the widowed, divorced or single woman constitutes the largest group of the over-65 in our country.

Obvious Challenge

Despite this obvious challenge, the U.S. businessman hasn't the vaguest idea whether the older woman consumer differs from her younger counterpart—and if so how and what to do about it. Facts are scarce and one reason is that the older consumer doesn't cooperate in supplying the facts. The Philadelphia Reserve Bank made an astute observation when it said "Nobody likes being marked old and singled out for special attention"—least of all a woman!

The over-65 age group has been growing three times as fast as our population as a whole in the last 10 years, almost 1,200,000 persons reached 65 each year, 50 per cent above the rate in 1940. Despite the clear need for reliable information about this American as an earner, saver, spender, the senior market has been the least probed of all markets. The gaps in knowledge are immense.

Nevertheless, these points appear clear.

Certain Points Are Clear

The older consumer does constitute a separate and distinct market—which is complex, tricky, hard to sell but great with promise.

The spending pattern of the older consumer does differ from that of the younger consumer and the senior citizen does have special needs and desires for food, clothing, housing, recreation, etc.

The shopping habits of older citizens differ too. As an illustration, a study by Robert E. Dodge of the University of Oregon indicates older people prefer to shop in central shopping districts and in department stores. In spite of their low incomes, they are willing to pay for quality goods. They aren't easily swayed by advertising but do respond to appeals that stress service. They like to shop alone.

Here are more specific implications to American business.

Three Implications

(1) Although housing for the elderly has been given lots of publicity, this remains a vast and largely untapped market and the senior citizen can be a highly profitable customer for a suitably designed house. The Philadelphia Reserve Bank defines this as a small house, all on one level with plenty of space for storage, hobbies and projects and a number of "special features." Contrary to popular belief, however, older people do not favor neighborhoods designed exclusively for them or only warmer climates. They want to be integrated with all age groups and not move away from their old communities.

(2) There is also a vast and largely untapped market for special diet foods and a tremendous need for clothes in larger sizes which are chic and young-looking.

(3) There is another vast, largely untapped market for senior citizen budget vacations and low-cost recreation facilities.

Right now, the over-65 American represents a shining opportunity for the businessman who has the imagination to understand what is happening under his eyes. He'll become more so as each year passes.

Sal Mineo in Hospital After Injury on Set

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP)—Actor Sal Mineo and actress Madlyn Rhue were treated for severe leg burns and heat exhaustion after a mock battle scene got too realistic.

The film stars, on location in the desert near here Monday, were running from an "enemy plane," an F51 flying 20 feet above ground, when they stumbled and fell. They landed next to a string of detonator caps just as they were exploded to simulate machine gun fire from the plane. A Barstow physician said Mineo and Miss Rhue would probably be able to resume work today on the film.

Western Powers Report No Split On Berlin Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of four Western powers met Monday to work out a reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's Berlin memorandum. They reported afterwards that there was no split among them.

The talks were conducted by Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of the state for European affairs, and were attended by German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe, French Ambassador Herve Alphand and Lord Hood, British Embassy minister.

The group agreed to meet again later this week and it is expected the reply to Moscow will be completed by the end of the week.

Nurse Irene Tegenamp, of Dayton, Ohio, a medical technologist from the U.S.S. Hope, gives instruction in the use of a microscope to nurses at the Mataram Hospital on Lombok Island, Indonesia. The floating hospital ship set up a clinic at the hospital during its stop in the area.

'Hope' Medical Team Learns Use of Make-Shift Equipment

Americans Adopt Same Methods Used by Indonesian Doctors

BY ROBERT A. PETERSON

American medical personnel aboard the SS Hope are receiving a liberal education in make-shift methods during their journey through the Indonesian islands. They have imposed the same conditions upon themselves that indigenous medical personnel must cope with daily.

A doctor related: "You really know how these doctors feel when you are put in a position of looking at the one dwindling tank of oxygen at the hospital and having to decide whether you're going to use it all to save one critical case now or use it for three major operations that must be done tomorrow."

One California nurse related. "Instead of taking our fancy equipment into the operating room, we went in there first with just a fly swatter."

A Columbus, Ohio, surgeon added, "When we started work the flies had full reign in the operating room. Now if one gets through the door there are six people after it."

Hope doctors became accustomed to operating in their bare feet alongside barefoot Indonesian surgeons.

"These doctors are terrific," said one Hope staffer. "The pace at which they must work would overwhelm most of us in a week. The Indonesian surgeons are delicate, light-fingered and gentle with tissue, which are the prime requisites for good surgery."

Touched by Scenes

Work in Indonesian clinics, always heavy, has increased since Hope doctors have been around to assist. One morning a Hope team saw 377 patients. "That is 170 more than we usually get here—they all know about the Hope doctors being here, you see," commented an Indonesian medical man.

Even experienced medical personnel, who have been injured to the sight of suffering, have been touched by what they see in Indonesia.

After touring a children's ward in Den Pasar—row after row of beds in which children were gasping with pneumonia, had stomachs swollen from protein deficiency, legs shriveled from lack of vitamins or covered with open sores that never heal a Dallas nurse said, "I just wanted to cry."

In the clinics, there are long lines of women with children in their arms—some of the babies are crying, some are very still. One mother waited patiently while the child in her arms had tetanus convulsions.

"It took a long time for us to get used to the critical level that disease reaches before it is seen by a doctor," said a Boston physician. "It's tragic to have a child with 105 fever sent home because the clinic closed before the mother's turn came to see the nurse."

Fierery Rice Sauce

Although treating disease is an international problem, some uniquely national ones have cropped up on the Hope. First step in conforming to the host nation was to set up an Indonesian kitchen for the benefit of the patients in the 230 bed hospital aboard the Hope and visiting native personnel. The Indonesian diet of rice three times a day covered with varying fiery sauces is supervised by a Midwestern hospital dietitian.

One Hope nurse, in charge of a ward of newly admitted patients, was startled to see an elderly patient rise to his knees, place his hands on the edge of the bunk, and incline his head over the side three times.

"I rushed over to catch him—I was sure he was going to fall," she reported. "Then I found out he was only facing Mecca to say his prayers. This happens every day now at 4 p.m. and I've gotten quite used to it."

Many of the incoming patients carried small compasses which they were reluctant to surrender upon admission. An Indonesian doctor explained that they have no other way to tell which direction they should pray, and so an exception was immediately made to let devout patients spend the first few moments orienting themselves after admission to the wards.

Happy to be Aboard

Unfortunately the Hope was not anchored in a due East-West direction, which had it necessary for patients who wished to face Mecca to do so at a not-too-comfortable angle on their beds. "None of them really seemed to mind it, though," a staffer said. "They were just happy to be on the ship."

First admission procedure in Djakarta called for showers for all patients, but was discontinued after the first two patients spent 45 minutes in the shower and the third had to be coaxed out to avoid depletion of the water supply.

Truck Firms May Expand Operations

Permit Will Allow Cement Plants to Meet Competition

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—The Wisconsin public service commission has authorized two Brown County trucking firms to expand their zone of operations in order to permit Green Bay cement plants to meet their increasingly difficult competition.

Over the objections of the Soo and North Western railways, the Les Johnson Cartage Co. of Denmark and the Leicht Transfer and Storage Co. of Green Bay have been authorized to undertake contract carrier service within a 160-mile radius of Green Bay for the Atlas Cement Division of the U. S. Steel Corp. and the Huron Portland Cement Co.

The traffic will involve hydraulic, Portland, mortar or masonry cement.

The commission order noted that the railroads are in a "precarious financial condition" and need the cement traffic, but that the cement producers need truck service, nevertheless.

The commission said there is competition for the Green Bay shipping operation from a Manitowoc shipper which transports cement into the areas applied for, and especially upper Wisconsin, by leased vehicles.

Out-of-state carriers are also operating in the market zone of the Green Bay shippers and there is competition from Milwaukee shippers.

The commission also said a buyers' market now prevails in the cement business.

Sharp Point Made In Support of Bill

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—State police came before the Legislature with pointed arguments in support of bills to stiffen penalties against convict rioters.

A police representative appeared at a recent committee hearing with a bushel-sized basket full of knives and other weapons used in last year's riot at the state prison.

The order said that historically the state has set up areas of interest for each mode of transportation, and especially for the dump truck operations. But with the development of new and larger tandem dump trucks with large cement tankers the situation has changed in recent years, the regulatory agency explained.

Bill to Legalize Transportation For Private Schools in Peril

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The controversial bill to legalize the transportation in public school busses of the thousands of children enrolled in parochial and private schools in Wisconsin is in peril. Authors of the measure that has troubled many other legislatures in the past have been outmaneuvered by parliamentary opponents during recent weeks, and it now seems doubtful that they can recoup in the time that probably remains in this legislative session.

Two weeks ago they were caught napping when the bill was referred to the legislative joint finance committee, which has such a huge back-log of measures in its file that it has tended to become a burial ground for bills and resolutions.

Stopped Move

Then a few days ago two members who had planned to move for its discharge by the committee were anticipated by Chairman Everett Bidwell, who adjourned the committee session before they could make the motion.

If the parochial school transport bill ever gets to the floor of either house for a vote, it is given a 50-50 chance of approval.

But the problem will be to move it to the floor. The issue is an extremely sensitive one in many legislative districts, and the chances are that a majority of the law-makers would prefer to avoid voting, by holding it in the committee file.

The betting in legislative corridors now is that Gov. Nelson's two recent nominees for the state conservation commission will win senate confirmation, giving the Democratic executive a new majority on the commission that he has sought during his three years in office.

Two years ago Nelson demanded the abolition and recreation of the commission as a means of getting rid of its Republican hold over members. This year he abandoned that project as he got the legal right to name the third and fourth of his own members.

The vote on Harold Smaby of LaCrosse will probably be favorable by an easy margin in the senate. Jack Schumacher of Shawano, is more controversial, but his friends are now claiming 18 senate supporters, which would assure his installation.

One of the reasons why the truck lobby has had a somewhat easier time of it in this legislative session than in some others is that the Wisconsin Railroads Association for the first time in years is without resident representation in Madison. Christ Himmell, the capitol man for the Wisconsin Railroads Association, retired about a year ago and has not been replaced. The word is that the railroads are retrenching, probably won't retain a new political agent in Madison.

Walter Nortman, former legislator from Milwaukee County and a lawyer, comes to Madison to make the formal representations before legislative committees on behalf of the Wisconsin rail companies.

Lawrence Jones of the staff will succeed John K. Kyle as manager of the Wisconsin Association of Cooperatives when Kyle takes office as director of the state department of securities.

Kyle's replacement of E. J. Samp in that regulatory department will mark the departure from the state politics of one of its oldest warhorses. Samp has been prominent in public affairs for nearly 40 years and was chairman of the state Republican party organization during the long and lean years of the LaFollette dominance in the 1930s. Without Samp and a few other loyalists, the GOP machine would have collapsed utterly during that time.

Several times Samp tried running for office, without success. The last attempt was in 1938, when he sought the Republican nomination for U. S. senator. The incident is remembered even today because Samp pioneered here in the use of the helicopter in stumping the state.

University of Wisconsin campus sources report that there are four names before the university regents as prospective candidates for the deanship of the huge college of Letters and Science, rather than three as generally reported. The ranking favorite for the appointment, as matters now stand, is probably Prof. Edwin Young of the economics faculty.

The selection of the new dean of the university's biggest college is one of the most important of the current jobs of the regents, who realize that the school will bear the brunt of the enrollment explosion that is sure to come during the next decade. A considerable reorganization of the school which now numbers about 12,000 students is also a probability after the installation of the new dean.

Political distinctions mean little among the current members of the legislature's finance committee. Two of the Democratic members, especially, sometimes seem more cautious on financial matters than do their Republican associates. Assemblymen Riehle of Marathon County and Collins of Milwaukee County are apparently determined to refute, with their votes and their attitudes, the idea that the Democrats are more liberal spenders than the Republicans.

There is talk among some leading legislators about an arrangement for legislative staff services that would include J. J. Keliher, the state auditor who by law is a regular consultant of the legislature's finance committee. The plan for formal provision

Businessman Makes 47th Pilgrimage to Shrine at Holy Hill

HUBERTUS (AP)—For the 47th year in a row, an 82-year old West Allis businessman returned Sunday to Holy Hill near here to offer thanks.

John Weitzer started his annual pilgrimages to the Catholic shrine, a landmark in Washington County, in 1915 after recovering from a severe attack of bronchitis upon completion of a ten-day trip to Holy Hill. He makes no claim of a miracle.

Weitzer was accompanied Sunday by his wife, eight children and their spouses and 28 grandchildren.

Mixed Dancing Course No Place to Meet Man

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Mixed Dancing" is one of the courses offered for the women's physical education requirements at Western Reserve University's Flora Stone Mather College. There's usually a line of coeds waiting to sign up.

"They think the 'mixed' means men and women," says instructor Kathy Karipides. "Then they find out the 'mixed' means forms of dancing, such as square, folk and modern."

There are no men in the class.

U.S.S.R. Snaps At U.S. Heels, Nikita Says

Soviets Will be Ahead of America By 1970, He Boasts

MOSCOW (AP)—Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is "snapping at the heels of America" in the economic race and will pass its production by 1970.

The premier told a Communist party rally in a voice bursting with pride that the Soviet Union, founded only 44 years ago, has already forged ahead of Britain and France.

"Comrades! there is only America," he shouted in a speech at Alma Ata, capital of Kazakhstan, broadcast by Moscow Radio.

Track Meet

Drawing the analogy of a track meet, he depicted the United States as an old, worn out runner and the Soviet Union as young and fresh.

"The United States is now running on its past reputation but at the finish line the young, fresh, strong runner will break the tape and our socialist country—young, strong, organized, mobilized—is snapping at the heels of America, our date."

They Forgot the Sink

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Don Callison got his car back — or at least part of it — the day after it was stolen. Missing from the 1956 model vehicle were four wheels, back axle, differential, spare tire and wheel, hood, battery, carburetor, radio, door to the glove compartment and floor mats.

—not silently, but saying "Look, we are in the race. Hurry up or we will overtake you!" Khrushchev said American experts were telling President Kennedy the Soviet Union would overtake the United States by 1970 and declared confidently: "That is our date."

Fiji Police Prefer Whole Skulls to Traditional Haircuts

HONOLULU (AP)—The Fiji cop's bushy head of hair is a thing of the past, says Peni Vere, chief inspector of the Fiji police force.

Vere said strike riots two years ago left many Fiji policemen with head injuries because they couldn't stuff their heads into helmets. So they were ordered to get haircuts.

There was a great outcry from the public about tradition being destroyed, Vere said. But it was decided that tradition wasn't worth as much as a whole skull.

Army Camp Serves As School Building

NEW MARKET, N. J. (AP)—The Army has lent a helping hand to Piscataway Township's educational system.

The Army's installation at Camp Kilmer has served as school for hundreds of township children since 1955, when an old USO building was reconstructed into a seven-room school.

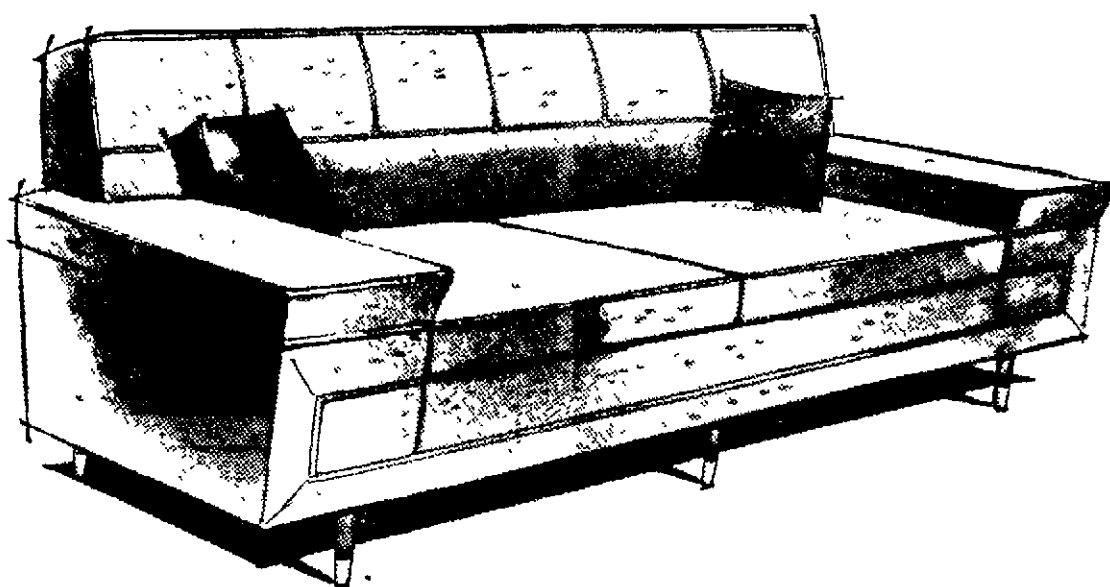

"There's no question that we would have been forced on double sessions in the last few years if those buildings had not been available," says Dr. Theodore Schor, Piscataway superintendent of schools.

Fox Cities Graduates Greet Old Classmates Renew Friendships At Reunion Parties

Graduates of Fox Cities' high schools gathered for reunion dinners and dances Saturday evening. The high point of such parties is talking over old times, and finding out what has happened to class members since graduation day. Old record books revived memories of the Neenah High Class of 1926. The 35-year reunion was held at Valley Inn. Recalling an event of their senior year are Jack Loehning, Mrs. Ruth Tyrriver, Mrs. William Prosser and Howard Pope, pictured at left. Donald Missling, right, member of Appleton High School Class of 1951 holds up the prize he won for traveling the farthest distance to the reunion at Menasha Elks Club. Looking on are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thomack, Menasha, and Mrs. Missling.

Setting for the Saturday evening dinner and 15-year reunion of Menasha High School class of 1946 was Lakeroad Lanes, Neenah. At right, before the dinner, Mrs. Barbara Wilkinson, New Mexico, chatted with the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Bailar, Western Springs, Ill.

Members of Appleton High School Class of 1936 held their reunion dinner dance at Appleton Elks Club. Members who could not attend sent greetings to their assembled classmates. Checking up on the whereabouts of missing friends were Frank Zahrt, master of ceremonies and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buesing, Sheboygan. Buesing was class president. Pausing to renew old friendships are, right, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rehmer, Covina, Calif., and Dr. and Mrs. William Lohr, Lebanon, Ore.

cashed the top diamonds and led a third diamond from dummy. East took the queen of diamonds, and West got rid of two spades.

East returned the deuce of hearts to the king, and West led another heart to East's ten. The defenders had managed the hearts very cleverly to avoid giving declarer a second trick in the suit, but now the lead was in the East hand. How was West going to get in to run the last two hearts?

Gift Offered
East returned the jack of clubs, and South accepted the gift gratefully. He took dummy's king of clubs and returned a low spade in the hope of getting to his own hand with the queen of spades.

Alas for trusting declarer! East stepped up with the king of spades, cashed the ace of clubs and led a club to West's queen. West thereupon took the rest of the tricks. South was down three and didn't even get a trick with dummy's ace of spades.

If South had been a suspicious soul, he'd have refused the club trick. Then what could East do? He could take the ace of clubs and lead another club, so that declarer would get the club trick after all. Then declarer could cash dummy's ace of spades and lead a low spade toward his hand to get a spade and the rest of the diamonds. South would make his contract instead of going down three.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S. K 3 2, H. Q 10 2, D. Q 10 4 3, C. A J 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two notrump. This bid promises 13 to 15 points, with strength in all unbid suits. You are one point short, but have two tenspots by way of compensation. This is close enough for practical purposes.

Appearance of Patient Important
Because good personal appearance is such an important factor in keeping up morale, and high morale is so vital to convalescence, some hospitals have installed coin-operated washing machines and even hair dryers for the convenience of ambulatory patients.

When hair is freshly shampooed and sleepwear and robes clean and attractive, any patient just naturally feels and looks better.

Our Children

Children Must Learn to Control Their Own Lives

BY ANGELO PATRI

Young people are often faced with serious problems for which they find it difficult to come to the right conclusions, right for them and for their parents. They have been taught and trained to bow to their parents' wishes and then, one day, they come to the crossroads. They want to take one road, their father or mother, maybe both, want them to take another. What to do?

"The college I want to go to is in a nearby city. There is none where we live. I could live with my married sister who wants me to do so. My mother wants me to stay home and I think that is because she will miss the help I give her. But there is my education, my future? What should I do?"

Parents Disapprove

Another says, "I am twenty-five years old and engaged to be married. My mother and father have nothing against the man I hope to marry, but they keep postponing my marriage. No good reason is offered. Last night I told them that we were going to be married next month no matter what, and such a storm broke over my head that I finally left the house and stayed overnight with a friend. Now I am accused of the worst. I hate to disobey my parents but they give me no choice. My wedding will not be a happy event I planned for they say they won't do a thing about it and won't even be present."

It is said that such situations arise, but they do and the children are made to suffer. The time comes when they must take their lives on their own responsibility: their parents know that even though they battle against it. For their comfort we can tell them that once the break is made, the parents usually become resigned to it; indeed they often believe they suggested it in the first place. Time heals such wounds wonderfully, especially when time proves how right the children were.

Must Grow Up

Obedience to parents should cease to be necessary once the years of adolescence have passed. Parents know in their innermost minds that children must grow up and become self-sustaining physically, mentally, morally, and financially. In time, their children usually have to take over some responsibility for them. They ought not to make the parting so difficult and lay claims on obedience and appreciation and duty. A child has a duty to himself, too.

INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERN

Even without consulting our favorite weatherman, it's a cinch to predict many more sizzling days ahead for this season. With that in mind, we offer one of the coolest, prettiest, most easily made dresses to refresh your summer wardrobe. In but a few hours time, from cutting to hemming, you can be wearing and enjoying Irene Gilbert's flattering design made with only three basic pattern pieces. The front bodice, center skirt panel and sleeves are cut in one. The wide square neckline is filled in with extensions cut onto the back bodice. Beyond the front panel that opens into free and easy walking pleats, the skirt continues around to the center back in one piece. No side seams here — darts do the shaping over the hip. An attached back-buckled belt defines the waistline. Suggested fabrics are linen, novelty cottons, shantung, silk surah or foulard, and for late date wear in Fall — sheer wool or silk crepe. From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to ready-to-wear.

Your Problems

Alimony More Important Than Good Name to Divorced Woman

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm in a difficult spot and I need a clear head, which at the moment, mine isn't.

Two years ago my husband asked for a divorce so he could marry a little nothing he'd been seeing for years. In exchange for his freedom I agreed to take the house, the car, our joint bank account and I tied him up financially for life. We have two daughters 17 and 15.

Several months ago I met Jim. He's a terrific man. My girls like him and we have fun together. Jim spends weekends with us and we take short trips. We want to get married but it would mean the end of the alimony which is just too beautiful. Jim could never take care of us like this.

The neighbors are beginning to ask the girls ugly questions. Should I get married to quiet the wagging tongues? To be frank, I've got everything just the way I want it right now. — Buff

Dear Buff: A woman who carries on in this shameless manner in view of her daughters, friends and neighbors earns every word of the ugly talk.

That "beautiful" alimony is pretty darned expensive. If you've got a cash-box for a conscience and macaroni where your morals belong, just keep on doing what you're doing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 15

and I have a unique problem. You say a girl should always introduce her date to her parents. Well — I'd love to, but my folks don't want to be bothered.

Mom and Dad are always in the sun parlor reading the newspaper and watching TV when the fellow arrives. They keep the door closed because Dad likes to sit in his suspenders with his shoes off and Mom isn't "dressed to meet company." I have to shout "Goodbye" when we leave.

I've dated one fellow dozens of times and he has never seen my parents. He has even mentioned it. I'm proud of Mom and Dad and I don't care if they're dressed up or not. I'd like my friends to meet them. What can I do about this? — Orphan with Parents

Dear Orphan: You sound like a gal with very good sense. Now let's see if we can educate your parents.

Tell them! You are proud of them — shoes off, suspenders in full view, house dress and all.

Insist that the next young man who takes you out be permitted to meet your parents. It will be like getting olives out of a bottle. After the first one — the rest will be easy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a widow with an invalid mother. The man I've been going with says he loves me. He bought me a diamond ring last year.

The trouble is I refuse to leave my mother unless a competent person is with her. She's hard to get along with and there's only one woman with whom mother is comfortable. She's available every ten days.

My fiancé will not stay at home with me and mother more than a couple of evenings a week. He likes movies, plays, friends and outside activities. Should I drop him? — Hannah

Dear Hannah: The mystery is why he hasn't dropped you. Find other sitters for your mother and be a part of this man's life. One day your mother will be gone and you'll have to hire someone to sit with you.

If alcohol is robbing you of someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send paper to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Ailing House Tips Given On How to Refinish

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a very graceful wood celery tray, but the finish peeled off. I have removed the old finish and want to refinish the tray, but do not know what to use or how.

A: If the wood surface is sanded smooth and absolutely clean (free of any trace of wax, grease, etc.) and dry; apply a coat of pure fresh white shellac, thinned half-and-half with denatured alcohol, or spray on a coat of shellac.

STUCK WINDOWS

Q: After painting our house last fall, we find most of our windows are "painted" shut. It is an impossibility to reach them by ladder from the outside as the house is on a hill and three stories high. Is there any way we can get them open working from the inside?

A: If you can't get directly at the windows to use one of the little paint - film - cutting gadgets, available at hardware stores for this purpose, there is no other way I know of to loosen the paint. This is definitely a job for a professional who is experienced at working on high ladders; definitely not a project for an amateur do-it-yourselfer!

BLEACHING WOOD

Q: How can I bleach wood?

A: Wood bleaching kits are available at most paint and hardware stores. Follow manufacturer's instructions carefully. Or try the following homemade solution on light-colored wood: Make a saturated solution of oxalic acid (poison) crystals in either denatured alcohol or hot water (add crystals to the liquid until no more can be dissolved). Then brush this solution on the clean, bare wood surface and allow to remain at least 8 hours (overnight). Remove all trace of the bleach then, by rinsing two or three times with clear water. When wood is completely dry, sand smooth, wipe off dust and finish as desired.

PRESERVING DRIVEWAY

Q: My black top driveway is about four years old and needs something done to preserve it. Is there any way this can be done inexpensively? Contractors want to resurface the driveway completely. There are few, if any, cracks, but I feel if left another year, serious damage may be done.

A: A dressing for black top driveways is available at dealers in asphalt products. To repair cracks, patch holes, an instant-pave, asphalt-patching material is available at many garden supplies centers, as well as asphalt products dealers; this is easy to use, requiring no elaborate heating or rolling equipment.

Mrs. R. E. Nottleson

brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushering duties were shared by Mr. Swisher and Mr. Taylor.

The couple was honored at a reception at YWCA. When they return from their wedding trip, they will live in Milwaukee.

The bride was graduated from Neenah High School and was employed by Bergstrom Paper Co. The bridegroom attended Scandinavia High School and Central State College, Stevens Point. He is employed in the research department of Allis-Chalmers Co.

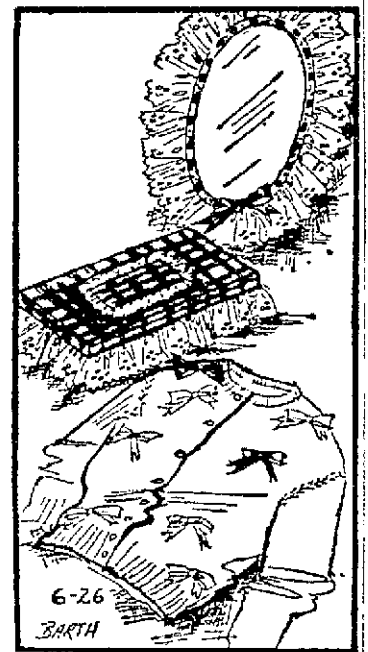

SEAMS TO ME Room Trim For Teens

By Patricia Scott

By now most of you have your summer wardrobes pretty well organized but how about your bedrooms? Even though you may be spending most of your days out of doors, you'll still want things to do to keep from getting bored—especially on rainy days.

The three Pat Scott items illustrated will be fun to do and with almost no effort involved. Two of them are for the bedrooms.

Mirror trim (top): You can use any basic mirror shape you wish, preferably with a frame. It can be round, oval, or rectangular. First, measure around your mirror for yardage required for eyelet embroidered batiste ruffling.

wo inches wide; embroidered batiste beading one-half inch wide; velvet ribbon the proper width to fit beading.

To make: Stitch beading to eyelet ruffling. Fit ruffled strip to mirror and stitch two ends together. Run ribbon through beading, making a nice bow where ribbon ends meet. Now, just glue the ruffling to the mirror frame with beading extending beyond the frame on to the mirror. Do not glue beading to mirror.

Jewel box with pin cushion (middle): You'll need one plastic box with a lid and divided into compartments; fabric to coordinate with your bedroom decor; eyelet embroidered batiste ruffling one inch wide; cotton batting.

To make: Cut fabric to fit box lid, including sides of lid. Repeat for base of box, including sides of base.

Glue the fabric to the lid, being very careful to fold it neatly at the corners. Trim fabric at edge, and at hinges. Repeat step for base of box. Now, blue the heading of the ruffling around the base of the box, below the lid.

For pin cushion: cut two rectangles half the size of the lid in the same fabric. With wrong sides of fabric together, seam three sides together.

Through the open side, stuff with batting. When stuffed firmly, stitch the fourth side. Top stitch heading of ruffling to edge of cushion, covering original stitching on cushion and raw seam edges. Glue cushion to lid of jewel box.

Sweater trim (bottom): Make tiny bows made of narrow grosgrain ribbon and scatter them evenly on a white sweater. Pin each bow on with a tiny safety pin. Make bows to match your various cotton dresses and just change bows to coordinate with your dress. You'll be right in fashion with your matching dress—sweater ensemble for cool evenings.

You can also try using bows of different colors for a multi-colored effect. Just be sure to scatter the different colors evenly.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Hospital Auxiliary Lists New Officers

NEENAH—Mrs. G. R. Anderson was named new president of Thecla Clark Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Monday evening at Riverside Park Pavilion. Mrs. Anderson succeeds Miss Doris Kerwin.

Also named to office at the annual meeting were Mrs. Fred Hollenbeck, first vice president; Mrs. F. N. Pausch, second vice president; Mrs. John Whitney, secretary; Mrs. Forrest Werling, assistant secretary; Mrs. Elmer Schultheis, treasurer, and Mrs. Kenyon Kimball, historian.

The nominating committee included Mrs. Melvin Crowley, temporary chairman, Mrs. Harold Sperka, Miss Mary Orbison and Mrs. Fred Jensen. Mrs. Selden Spencer and Mrs. Emmett Below will replace Mrs. Crowley and Mrs. Sperka on the committee.

It was reported the total volunteer hours for the year was 16,302. Among those honored for volunteer work were Mrs. George Casperson, over 900 hours; Mrs. James Banks, over 800 hours; Mrs. Walter Strong, over 400 hours; and Mrs. H. C. Brien, over 300 hours.

Those serving more than 200 hours were Mmes. Dean Anderson, G. R. Anderson, William Broadway, Delmar Chavers, R. F. Coerper, Carl Geisler, John Handeyside, Howard Nelson, Joseph Harker, O. A. Reinke, E. J. Schultheis, John Whitney, F. H. Werling and Miss Doris Kerwin.

President's Report

In her annual president's report, Miss Kerwin noted the expansion of the hospital. "To meet the needs of the new hospital, the administration and auxiliary board will need to study the service opportunities in the hospital and also discover the best use of the many and varied skills and talents among the volunteers in order to provide members with opportunities for growth and individual recognition, and to place them in positions where the hospital feels they will be most useful as part of the total patient care."

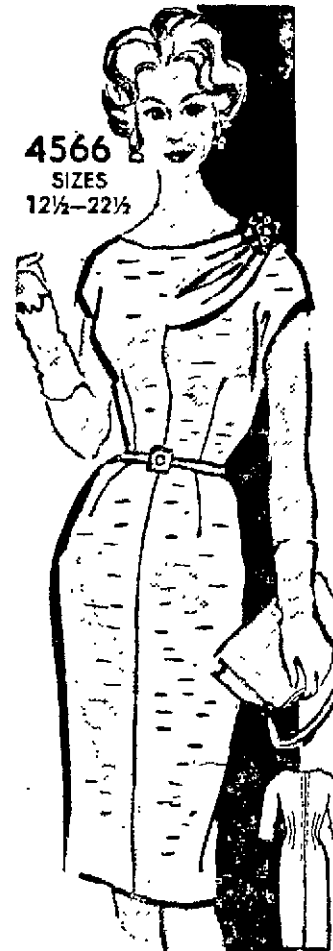

Perform Services

She said, "The hospital auxiliary provides to the community a means of meeting the human needs of a worthwhile cause. Members perform small, but important time consuming services and in so doing contribute to the local care of patients. What better way to create and promote in the community an understanding of the hospital and its services than to have more than 350 volunteers occupied in bringing comforting services to our patients."

Annual committee reports were given by Mrs. Carl Geisler, community relations; Mrs. Thad Epps, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. James Banks, hospital shop; Mrs. Arthur Croxson, junior auxiliary; Mrs. Oscar Reinke, library; Mrs. Joseph Turley, job; Mrs. William Broadway, membership; and Mrs. Whitney, nursing care.

Volunteer service pins were awarded by Nathan Bergstrom, president of the hospital board of directors.

Here's to You, MISS TEEN

a guide to good grooming and poise

BY MARY SUE MILLER

Emerson wrote, "Good manners are the pleasant way of doing things." Certainly, you would not disagree. Good manners smooth every relationship, while bad manners cause nothing but friction and hurt.

Truly attractive manners, however, go deeper than saying or doing the accepted thing. You have to put your heart into it!

There is nothing mysterious about the rules that govern good manners. They are simply a code of behavior accepted by the majority of people as a means of avoiding embarrassment to themselves and offense to others.

Everyday Manners

How do you make introductions? Present a younger woman to an older woman? A younger man to an older man? A man to a woman; a teen of either sex to grownups; a boy to a girl?

"Mrs. Older, this is Miss Younger."

"Mr. Older, this is Mr. Younger."

"Mother, this is Mr. Man."

"Father, this is my friend, Susie Teen."

"Susie, this is Johnny Date; Johnny, Susie Teen."

(In this case, the last phrase is used to acquaint Johnny with Susie's full name.)

How do you acknowledge introductions? You look the other person squarely in the eye and, in a distinct voice, say, "How do you do?" You may repeat the person's name. It is a courteous practice, especially when you are introduced to adults. Under special circumstances such as when you are presented to a close friend of a friend, you may add a gracious, "I am glad to know you. Mary has told me so much about you."

Do you shake hands when being introduced? When you are introduced to a teen girl or boy, offering your hand is a warm, poised gesture. You do not offer your hand to adults. Let the gesture come from them, and then respond promptly.

Whenever you offer your hand, be sure your clasp is firm. Limp handshakes are drabby; crushing grips are tomboyish.

Must you remove gloves when shaking hands? No! A gentleman removes his glove to shake hands, but a lady — never.

Must you rise to greet adults? If you remember that respect and consideration dictate our manners, you will rise gladly at the approach of an elder.

Telephone Manners

When a girl's telephone constantly gives the busy signal it does not mean she's popular. It's a sign she suffers from telephoneitis, and the affliction is not calculated to increase popularity. Tying up the telephone stamps a person as thoughtless.

Outside of reasonable brevity, there are only two rules for good telephone manners. The first is she wants to speak in a clear, pleasant voice. The second is to identify yourself when you make the call — "Mrs. Smith, may I speak with Joan?" This is Susie Teen."

Date Manners

Must a date call for you? Absolutely yes!

What should you expect from a date? As you overcome your problems and accentuate your good points you will become the girl you know yourself to be and want to be. Then you will feel a surge of confidence in yourself and in your ability to make a worthy contribution to your family, friends, and community.

You will find that you are able to give much happiness, and that you receive a lion's share in return.

And that just about sums up a happy teenhood, a happy lifetime.

Here's to it and to you, Miss Teen!

Table Manners

No person with a single thought for others would ever be found guilty of bad table manners. To put it bluntly, bad table manners are disgusting. Many people think of good table manners as doing things. You know what fork to use at a formal dinner. Actually, the ritual of table silver is of minor importance. A girl could use the wrong fork and no one would notice or take offense. But everybody would see and be offended if she used the fork like a farmer pitching hay.

While there are many rules for good table manners, these are in the top:

1. Sit erect at a table (or counter); never lounge.
2. Bring food up to the mouth; do not bend the head down to food.
3. Cut only one piece of meat, or any other food, at a time. Never take two bites from the same forkful or two sips from a spoonful. Before buttering, break bread and rolls.
4. Chew and drink soundlessly. Do not talk with a mouthful.
5. Do not "wash" down food with a beverage. Swallow the food and then sip the beverage.
6. Used table silver should be placed on the plate, so it does not touch the table.
7. Silver and napkins must be handled with delicacy but not with affected daintiness. Crooking the little finger is an example of affectation.
8. At the table, do not start eating until your mother or your hostess gives the signal by picking up her fork. Never gulp a meal or dawdle over. Cue your pace to that of your mother or hostess.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Second baby in the house? Here's an interesting idea from a clever mother to curb toddler jealousy. She hit upon the idea of showing off baby #1 in baby #2 instead of vice versa. By telling the baby all about big brother, it made the older child feel important and baby enjoyed being talked to. Worked wonders, claims the mother.

Babes in arms or toddlers need the "helping hand of body-building protein. Gerber's Stained and Junior Meats are ultra-rich in this important nutrient. Only selected "Armour" cuts are used. Special processing removes most of the fat, so digestibility is assured. All are 100% pure meat, with just enough broth left in to give a wonderfully smooth, moist texture.

"Armour Meat Protein is complete protein, supplying all the essential amino acids that build and re-build vital body tissues."

Sign of summer. Prickly heat is date in the way of courtesy?

1. He should rise to greet you.
 2. He should help you with your coat.
 3. He should open doors for you and let you pass through doorways first.
 4. He should walk on the curb side of the sidewalk.
 5. He should stand in line for movie tickets. You may stand with him, but in bad weather he should suggest that you wait inside.
 6. Unless there is an usher, he should precede you down the aisle of a theater. He should enter a crowded row first.
 7. He should pull out your chair for you when you are being seated at a table, and when you are rising.
 8. He must bring you home at the stipulated hour and leave you at the door.
- If your date doesn't know the rules, be gracious. Give him time and he'll learn!
- What does a date expect of your manners? For a girl to rate as a date, she must avoid these discourtesies:
1. Keeping a boy waiting more than 10 minutes.
 2. Using his pockets as cosmetic catchalls.
 3. Table and eye-hopping.
 4. Clutching his arm.
 5. Speaking and laughing in raucous tones.
 6. Raiding his entertainment allowance.
 7. Breaking a date at the last minute.

Family Manners

What is the formula for manners on home grounds? No girl can be boorish at home and mannerly in public. Her duplicity is bound to betray her to outsiders.

Everyone admires a girl who takes a considerate, respectful, and loving attitude toward her family.

She abides by the house rules, and ungrudgingly offers her help when it is required. She also has a fine regard for the rights and possessions of every family member.

She respects the advice of her parents. She resolves differences of opinion by quiet reasoning, never by wrangling. On moral issues she seeks the counsel of her parents and bows to their decisions.

She does all these things not because she must, but because she wants to. So, once again it is shown that attractive behavior comes from the heart.

Reaching Your Goal

As you overcome your problems and accentuate your good points you will become the girl you know yourself to be and want to be. Then you will feel a surge of confidence in yourself and in your ability to make a worthy contribution to your family, friends, and community.

You will find that you are able to give much happiness, and that you receive a lion's share in return.

And that just about sums up a happy teenhood, a happy lifetime.

Here's to it and to you, Miss Teen!

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

SIGNING FUNERAL REGISTER

How does a married woman sign the register at a funeral home? If the family knows me only by my married name, there is no problem, but so often my own distant relatives who haven't seen me since the last funeral don't remember my married name. I am often introduced by my maiden name. Should I then announce my married name?

Louise Davis Answers:

Writing one's name or signature in the register is mainly for identification. As a married woman, you could use your signature; Winifred Knight Jones. That also gives your maiden name. In parentheses, either after the Jones or underneath, you could identify yourself even further by writing: Mrs. Charles Jones. Thus, your signature and your name are both given. If you are introduced by your maiden name, it would be permissible to set matters straight by giving your married name. But you would be diplomatic about it so that the introducer won't be embarrassed.

LEAVE BAGS BEHIND

Is it correct at a dinner party for a lady to lay a small evening bag on the table?

Louise Davis Answers:

No. A bag should be left on the lap. As it has a way of sliding to the floor, it would be wise to leave it behind when going to the table. There could be nothing in any bag that would be needed, even a lipstick which can be applied after leaving the table. If a lady thinks she may need a handkerchief, she carries it with her and places it on her lap.

Neenah Woman Endorsed for National Post

NEENAH — The V. F. W. Auxiliary state convention endorsed Mrs. William Campbell, member of Hubbard-Peterson Post, for the national office of junior vice president. The conclave was held last weekend at Sheboygan. The group also cited Mrs. Maryie Hawkinson as one of two outstanding legislative chairmen at the convention.

Delegates to the parley were Mmes. Campbell, Emil Blank, Louis Steichen, Alvin Grambsch, Elizabeth Peterson, Ella Smith and Hawkinson.

Garment Men See Revival of Women's Suits

Say Mrs. Kennedy 'Terrific Impetus' To Style's Demand

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Makers of women's suits approve wholeheartedly of the First Lady. She is one—if only one—of the reasons they see a revival this year in the popularity of the garments which had their last big vogue in 1952-54.

The President's wife frequently is photographed wearing a suit—and many women have noted it, sales personnel say. Men probably have noted it, too, and if they haven't given it a second thought they may when the first of the month bills come in this fall.

Garment makers are always a confident lot when it comes to sales predictions. But backing them up are a number of retailers who report suit buying is up by 5 to 20 per cent. And some fashion experts agree that suits will have a bigger share of ladies' wardrobes this fall and next spring.

Sad Reports

New York's garment district reports sadly that since 1954 a new generation has come along with a deplorably stunted interest in suits.

Was it because suits are long lasting and after the buying spurge in the early 50's closets seemed crowded with these basic garments? Was it the flight to the suburbs with emphasis on casual living? Was it the late 50's rush to spend for homes, autos and appliances that left little over for suits?

Well, the suit makers say, hopefully, that the end of the late mild recession has coincided with the end of holding back on the buying of suits.

Have Needed Income

More women now have the disposable income needed for suit purchases. Also many families now have paid for their major appliances and can upgrade their clothing budgets.

There's a growing population of college girls, young matrons and career women, all classed by garment makers as prime prospects for suits. The industry is especially aiming at the younger girls, who have jobs now and can afford suits.

(MORE)

The Chicago Cloak & Suit manufacturers group says it is bullish about suit prospects for the first time in several years. The Chicago Fashion Guild says optimism is fed by the upward trend of the economy as well as by good sales results with store buyers.

Suit Sales Ahead

The Federal Reserve report on department store sales shows suit sales in March ahead in all areas, magenta, harvest gold, emerald with New York and Richmond districts having the biggest gains. Baltic blue.

Individual stores report sales gains tallied in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Chicago, Chattanooga and New York.

A New York fashion authority gives credit to what she calls the helped increase the American young look, citing the closer body fit and longer jacket. She terms it after the range of colors and of fabric novel garb is the suit. This has weights as the best in a decade, given terrific impetus to suit design.

Mrs. Kennedy Plans Dinner at Mount Vernon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy plans a state dinner for the president of Pakistan at Mount Vernon.

As far as anyone at the White House could recall, this will be the first time that a state dinner has ever been given at Mount Vernon.

The President's wife drove to Mount Vernon Monday afternoon to make preliminary arrangements for the state dinner July 11 for Mohammed Ayub Khan.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy was impressed during her recent trip to Europe with the use Austria and France made of historic landmarks for entertaining on formal occasions.

Mount Vernon is owned by the Mount Vernon Ladies Association of the Union. The group purchased it and restored it as a public shrine in the 19th century when the government declined to purchase it.

Committees Report on Joint Circle Project

A meeting of committee chairmen of "Homes in Review" sponsored jointly by Genevieve Paulson and Charly Circles of The King's Daughters, was held recently at the home of Mrs. Robert Spooner, 36 Garden Court.

Reports were given by all committees. Proceeds were donated to Plamann School for Retarded Children.

UW Expects 3,500 for Advance Registration

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin's advance registration program for freshmen began Monday. It is expected to attract about 3,500 candidates for the fall term before Aug. 4, the date the program is concluded. Freshmen students accepted will return to the UW campus Sept. 5 for an orientation period. Classes begin Sept. 11.

Handmacher Vogel, agrees that an important boost to the business is being given by the variety available this year—velvet suits, cotton suits, knit suits, the soft look, the tailored look, the fur trimmed.

Suburbs Getting Cited

He also holds that many suburbanites are returning to big cities, where the casual look isn't the vogue. And the suburbs are getting cited, too.

David Zelinka of Zelinka Matlick thinks retail sales should rise 20 per cent this fall with the right retail promotion.

Archie Davidow of Davidow Suits Inc. says sales are running five per cent ahead of last year and the outlook is good.

Burt Kwail, divisional manager of Felix Lilienthal, says the budget and suit market is bullish. He cites the flare silhouette in sales in March ahead in all areas, magenta, harvest gold, emerald with New York and Richmond districts having the biggest gains. Baltic blue.

Individual stores report sales gains tallied in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Chicago, Chattanooga and New York.

A New York fashion authority gives credit to what she calls the helped increase the American young look, citing the closer body fit and longer jacket. Red Star School Will Join Appleton District

Committee Action Effective Next Month, Although City Speakers Requested Delay

Red Star School District will become a part of the Appleton school system on Aug. 5, Outagamie and Calumet County School committees decided last night.

No one at the public hearing, school boards conference or joint committee meeting opposed attachment of Red Star to Appleton for school purposes. Appleton representatives, however, asked that the order be effective in 1962 so the city schools would have more time to plan for the change.

In contrast to a hearing on the same question nearly two years ago, last night's meeting was peaceful and orderly. About 30 people attended.

"The district has come to an agreement and now we want to join Appleton for school purposes," Mrs. Marilyn Nelson of Red Star told the committees. She said the two-room school could be a neighborhood school for small children if it became a part of the Appleton system. The second room was added last year.

Red Star Clerk Orville Johann said the people of the district wanted to join Appleton now, before the last-minute rush at the July 1, 1962, deadline for all territory to join high school districts. Six other elementary districts border on Appleton.

Red Star Parent-Teachers Association asked that the attachment petition be circulated, Johann explained. He and District Director Reuben Stadler said only two people refused to sign the petitions; 262 signed them.

Appleton is the best place to go to fulfill the law, because "Appleton will expand out that way," Johann said. Appleton City Atty. Don L. Jury, who pointed out that he was not authorized to take sides for the city at the hearing, recalled the city's old argument that it preferred to take territory for all rather than just school purposes. But the city will abide by the law which says cities can be forced to take in territory for school purposes only, Jury said.

The Red Star people don't intend to join for all purposes, John Johann of the rural district said.

Time to Plan Appleton Supt. Royce E. Kurtz said delaying the attachment until next year would give more time to plan for such services as kindergarten, which Red Star doesn't have.

Appleton Board of Education President Mrs. Myrl N. Davis agreed, and expressed concern about funds for operating Red Star for the last half of 1961. Common school districts' fiscal year ends June 31, but city school systems operate on the calendar year.

The Red Star board said it had a balance of $6,000 in the treasury, which will be turned over to the city when the attachment becomes effective. The little school's annual budget is $12,020.

Committee member Harold Douglas Appleton, who voted against the motion for attachment

Aug. 1 because he preferred waiting a year said Appleton will have more room in 1962, after the 10-room addition to Foster School is completed.

"They don't have as much room as it looks" at Red Star, Douglas said, noting that although enrollment of about 54 is expected in grades one to eight this fall, there will be 24 children of kindergarten age.

Outagamie committee chairman, B. J. Mares, Bear Creek, assured the audience that orders for attachment of other elementary districts will be made early in the year ahead.

Boy Dies Under Wheels of Auto

Older Brother Was Backing Car To Shed on Farm

A 15-month-old boy, Timothy J. Kazik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Kazik, route 1, Oneida, died under the wheels of the family car at his farm home yesterday afternoon.

The youngest of 17 children died almost instantly at 6:45 p.m. of a severe skull fracture when the car, driven by his older brother Edwin, 17, backed over him, Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said.

Felt 'Bump' Edwin was backing the car to a shed to pick up a can of gasoline when he felt "a bump on the left rear wheel," he told Kemps. Then he pulled ahead, got out and saw the child. He had last seen the boy in the house at 5:45 p.m., he said.

Mrs. Kazik and another brother, Ervin Jr., rushed the child to St. Mary Hospital, Green Bay, but Timothy was dead on arrival.

Timothy is survived by his parents, nine brothers and seven sisters.

The death is not a traffic fatality, Outagamie County Patrol Sgt. George Elze took part in the investigation.

The body is at the Ryan Funeral Home, Del Pere.

Senators Protest Extra Spending

Hit Tendency to Ignore Finance Committee Recommendations

ADDITION — The strong tendency of the legislature to vote extra-budgetary spending bills indicates of indulging in "pork barrel" politics, and said that he did not intend to be left out of such arrangements. He told the Senate he has been reluctant to introduce a bill demanded by constituents in Waupaca County for the construction of a new dam across the Little Wolf River at Symco, because it would cost $50,000.

But in view of the free spending attitude of the lawmakers, he said, he has decided to offer the measure.

Received Pressures The discussion led Sen. Leo O'Brien of Green Bay to report on the pressures he says he has received for the release of a veteran.

Was on Probation 22-Year-old Back On Conduct Count

Charles J. Weller, 22, 1748 N. Division St., who is on probation and under psychiatric care for making improper suggestions to the young girls, was in Municipal court again today on a similar charge.

The 11-year-old told police a man called about 9 p.m. and asked for the girls' aunt, who periodically stays at the home. She told the man the aunt was not in and asked the caller's name, she said. "Jim" was the reply. Then the girls gave the caller their names and address, police were told.

The caller then made improper remarks, police said. Then the caller told the 13-year-old his name was "Jim Smith," she said. He asked if he could come over and put $30 on the front lawn of the home, then added another remark, she said.

After he appeared at the front door, the girls said, one called police while the other talked to him.

Weller admitted to police that he called the number after he found it and the aunt's name on the wall near a public telephone. He said he had a few beers at a tavern, then made the call.

He also admitted offering them money, police said.

Periodic reports from the psychiatrist where ordered by the judge. None were made until Monday, the day after Weller was arrested.

Real Estate Men Can Prepare Legal Papers

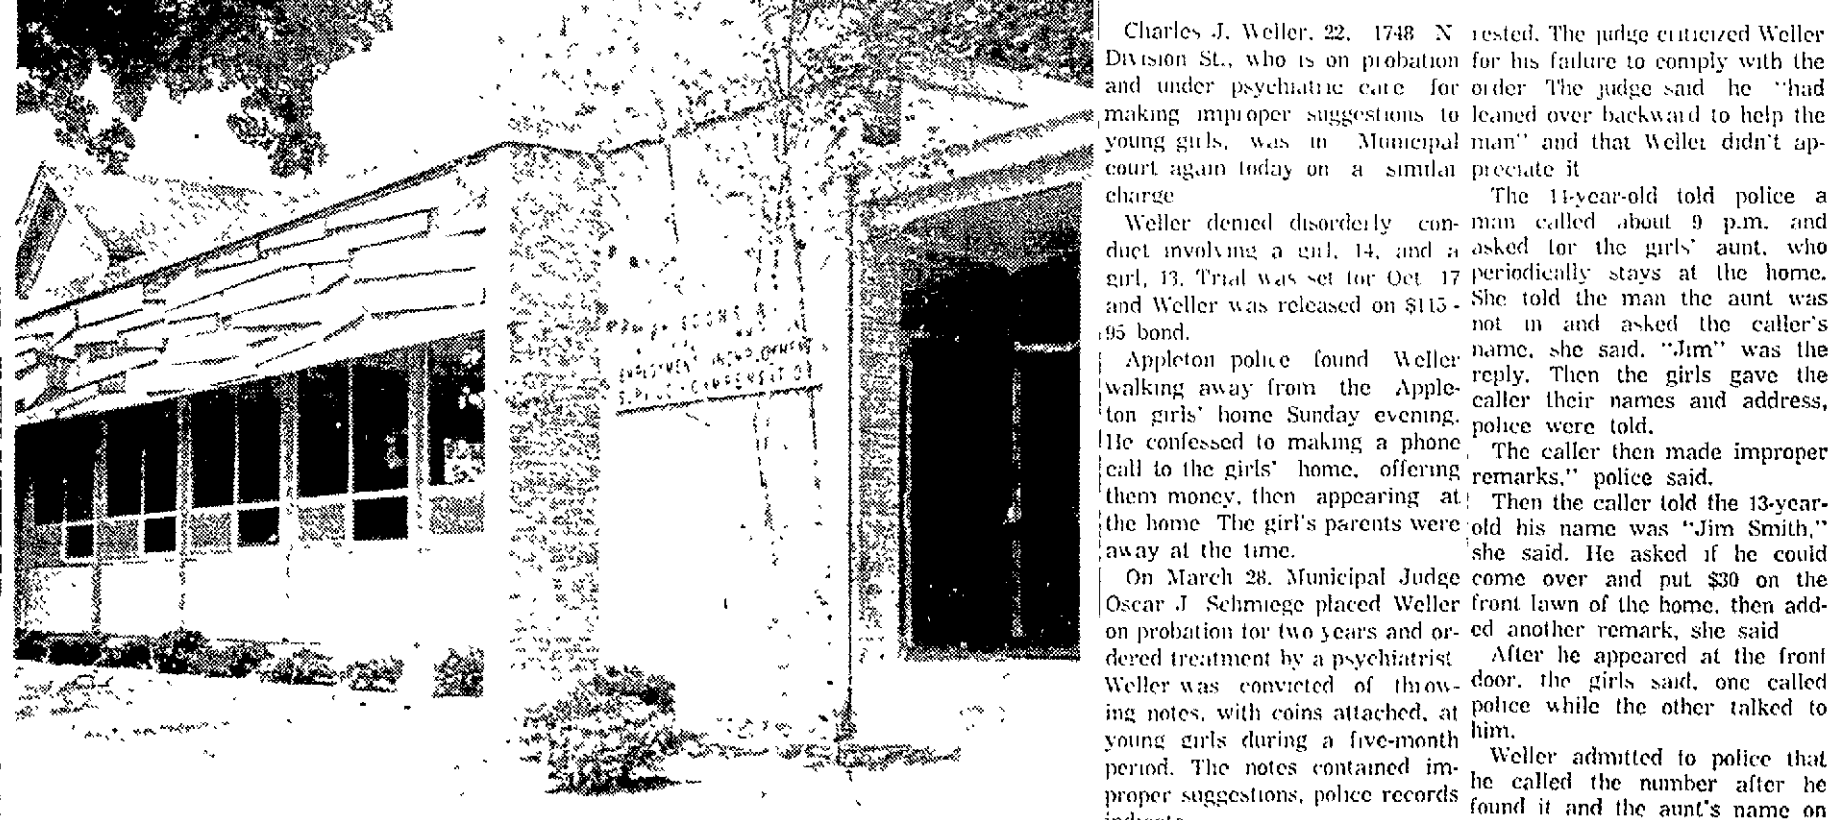

State Supreme Court Says It's Not Infringing on Practice of Law

MADISON (AP) — The State Supreme Court ruled today it is not an infringement on the practice of law for real estate brokers to prepare legal documents necessary to the sale or transfer of property.

The high court's decision dismissed a suit brought by Atty. Gen. John Reynolds in the interest of the State Bar Association. Reynolds contended the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers' Board, in modifying its rule on a member's right to use printed legal forms in transacting business, illegally attempted to "usurp the power of the Supreme Court" to define and regulate the practice of law in Wisconsin.

The board issued its modified rule Nov. 30, 1960, and argued the content did not depart from practices accepted since Wisconsin became a state. To prohibit the practice now would deprive brokers of a constitutional right, the board said.

Justice Timothy Brown agreed with the board in his unanimous decision. "Statute does not forbid the giving of professional legal advice and service by a person when incidental to his usual and ordinary business," said Brown. The decision means that Wisconsin's 11,000 real estate brokers may continue to fill out deeds, land contracts, mortgages and similar property documents.

Convicted Man Must Pay for Cost of Trial

High Court Backs Order Made Part of Probation Condition

MADISON (AP)—A person convicted of a crime can be required to pay the costs of his own prosecution as a condition of his probation, the State Supreme Court ruled today.

At issue was an appeal by Warren D. Welkos, a former justice of the peace in Elkhorn. Welkos was convicted of embezzling $22,232 in fines and costs he collected between 1952 and 1957.

Francis X. Swietlik, Walworth County circuit judge, put Welkos on five years probation on the condition that Welkos pay the $3,368 the county spent in prosecuting him.

The Supreme Court affirmed Swietlik's action. Speaking for the high court, Justice George R. Currie said "It is only fair and equitable that the defendant, who possesses the financial means to reimburse the county for its expenses of prosecution, should be required to do so as a condition of being granted probation."

Welkos had argued that the costs, which comprised fees for an audit of his records and costs of a special prosecutor, were not costs of prosecution and that the court had acted illegally in imposing them.

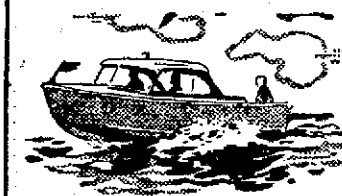

Welkos has made full restitution of the money he misappropriated.

Largest and Richest school of six considering joining the Neenah system is Spring Road School, just west of U. S. 41 at State 150. It has kindergarten, hot lunches, a large playground and part-time special

Group Studying Feasibility of New Suburban High School

Seven Districts Would Have 400 Potential Students, More Later

BY BONNIE BARSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The most drastic change that might be made in Neenah area school organization is construction of a new high school to serve as many as seven suburban-rural elementary school districts.

Such a possibility is being studied by the rural districts' citizens committee. The group, whose greatest strength is in Spring Road and Lakeview districts, is considering a common school district organization, which is entitled to more state aid and offers more opportunity for coordination of elementary and secondary schools than does the union high school arrangement.

If Spring Road, Tullar, Mears, Clayton, Gillingham, Lakeview and Badger districts all decide to join a new common school district, there would be a four-grade high school enrollment potential of about 400 students in 1952 and 622 students a decade later, the rural committee estimates.

Neenah High School has about 1,200 students and projects an enrollment of about 2,000 in 10 years.

Some parents prefer to have their children in small schools so they have less competition for athletic teams and other activities and so they get more attention from their teachers. Others prefer large schools, which can offer a wider variety of courses and provide more special facilities.

A high school of 400 students is the smallest recommended by Dr. James Bryant Conant, former Harvard University president, whose book on the American high school has been widely publicized.

Neenah Offerings

A school of that size could offer four years each of English, science, mathematics, social studies, band, chorus and physical education. The rural committee reported. It also could teach two years each of Latin, French, home economics, printing, shop and mechanical drawing, speech, art, typing and shorthand, and one year each of bookkeeping, office procedures, conservation and language arts.

In addition to the courses the proposed rural high school would offer, Neenah High has two years each of Spanish and German, third and fourth year home economics, orchestra, drama, a freshman business course, general record keeping, advanced biology and physics courses and solid geometry.

The NHS industrial arts department offers a general course for freshmen, three years each of woodworking, printing, machine shop and drafting, and a semester of engineering drawing. There are three bands and three choruses.

The rural citizens committee says its proposed curriculum for a new high school would require 26 teachers, librarian, counselor, principal and superintendent.

To accommodate 600 students, the committee sees need for a building with 24 classrooms, two shops, three laboratories, cafeteria, band room, gymnasium that can be used for two classes, intercom system, individual temperature controls in rooms, lockers, home economics rooms, offices and combination library-study hall. Either gym or cafeteria could double as an auditorium.

To build a school that size of concrete block with brick exterior, vinyl asbestos floors and ceramic tiled rest rooms would cost $1 to $1.2 million, the committee was told. The cost includes a 40-acre site and equipment.

Debt Limit

If all of the seven possible districts were included in the new district, the debt limit would be almost $2.8 million. The elementary schools have a debt now of about $1.1 million which would be transferred to the new district.

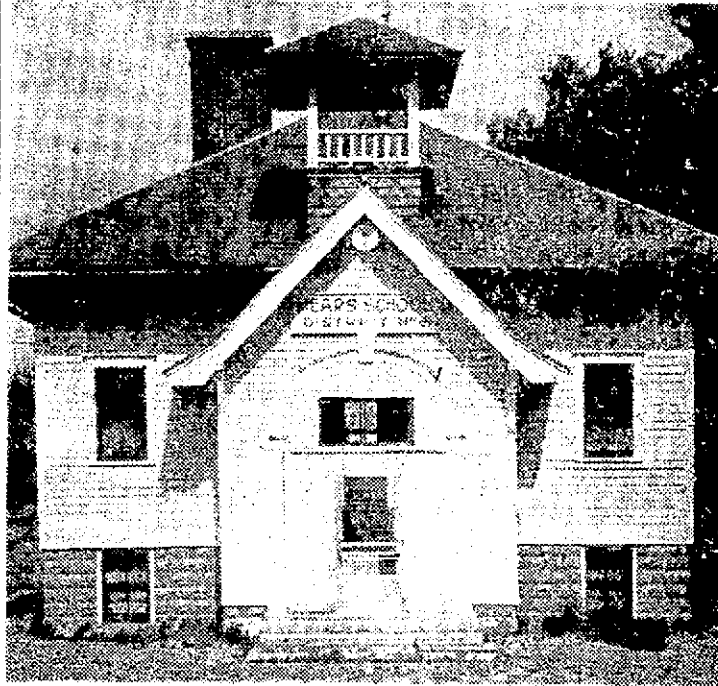

The committee said a site near U. S. 45 west of Neenah has been offered to the districts at a cost of $30,000. The location is about half way between the north border of Badger district and the south end of Lakeview district.

To form a new district and operate a high school for 400 students, the rural group will need the support of all the districts involved, and especially of the big districts. If Spring Road, Tullar or Lakeview decided to join a Neenah joint city or unified district or if Badger joined Appleton as a group of Badger citizens petitioned last year, the new high school would be left with a small enrollment.

Other Effects

Territory and students also could be lost to the city schools by annexation after the new district was formed.

Another effect on the new high school's enrollment may be the choice of some parents to send their children to an established parochial school rather than to a public school which would not be ans' bonus bill and veterans' affairs committee of which he is the chairman.

One of a Shrinking number of one-room schools, Mears School at U. S. 45 and Winnebago County Trunk GG, probably is near the end of its history. Mears District must join a district operating a high school by next summer, and may be divided among Neenah, Oshkosh and Winneconne. It is the only one-room school among the six districts which may consolidate with Neenah.

O'Brien said he has had many consultations with veterans' groups and county service officers about the measure, but had concluded after listening to Lorge and Draheim it would be unwise to permit the bonus question to come to the floor for a vote.

"I know there is no chance for it," he said.

Lorge also explained that he intends to keep an uncommitted position on the question of tax policy raging in the legislature.

No Decision
He said he won't make a decision about the sales tax before the legislature until after the public hearing Thursday. Lorge intends when he votes to put the interests of "all the people first, my party second, and myself third."

Lorge is usually counted by the Republican leadership as a regular but has been publicized lately as a possible dissenter on the Republican tax revision bill key-noted by a general sales tax. His public statement Monday apparently was intended to verify such reports.

Figures Needed to Compute Tax Levies for Coming Year

Outagamie County School Supt. Henry J. Van Straten has sent certified reports of assessed and equalized valuations to most of the county's 58 school districts.

The figures will be used in computing school taxes to be collected next year, and are based on assessments made last year. Union high school tax levies will be set at annual meetings July 17 and common school district levies at annual meetings July 24. City school taxes are set by city councils in the fall.

The valuations of some districts may be changed by reorganization on which the county school committee will hold hearings during the next month: Appleton and Red Star (Calumet County), last night, Kaukauna and Oak Grove Wednesday and Nichols and Leeman July 18.

Intergrade Shiocton Area
The number of school districts will be reduced considerably on July 1 because of the integration of Shiocton area. One common school district replaces nine elementary and one union high school district.

Of the county's 58 remaining districts, 23 have less than $1

Neenah Schools Hire Business Manager

James Clark to be First Holder Of Post; Will Begin Duties July 1

NEENAH — James Clark has been appointed to the newly created post of business manager for Neenah Public Schools. He will begin work July 1.

Clark, 27, presently is assistant to the director of business services for the Racine school system. He graduated from high school in Superior in 1951 and from Superior State College in 1955 with a B.S. degree in science and social studies.

Clark received advanced training in school administration, accounting and school law. He spent three years in the air force.

In addition to working with the director of business services at Racine, Clark worked on the Racine school reorganization program for the last two years. He is married and has two children. Clark will be the first business manager in the Neenah school system.

Clark's hiring brings about several personnel shifts. When Dr. Scott, originally hired as curriculum director, became superintendent, Miss Blanche McIntyre took over as curriculum coordinator. With the hiring of Clark, Miss McIntyre will serve part-time as audio visual director while Dr. Scott will assume some of the duties again as curriculum coordinator.

Clark's major duties will be divided into budgeting and financial planning, accounting and auditing, purchasing and supply management and plant planning and construction.

Other duties will include school-community relations, helping to hire personnel for all positions outside the area of instructional services, in-service training for clerical personnel, food services, insurance and building rentals for community use.

In addition, he will act as secretary to the board of education.

Tipsy Driver Goes to Jail

Neenah Man Gets Second Sentence For Same Offense

CHILTON — Max D. Wolfe, 22, 649 Elm St., Neenah, was fined $150 and sentenced to 10 days in jail Monday by Justice Wilber Winch. Wolfe admitted drunken driving and violating the restrictions of an occupational driving permit.

Wolfe was arrested Sunday by Calumet County police after police said he became abusive and violent during investigation of an accident. Police said the car Wolfe was driving left a town road, went through a ditch, hit a culvert and some brush and stopped after going through a playground area vacated by several children minutes before at Fargo Springs.

Fines imposed by Winch were $100 for drunken driving with the mandatory 10-day sentence. It was Wolfe's second conviction on tipsy driving within a year. He was convicted of drunken driving and driving without a license Jan. 3 in Neenah. The fine for violating the occupational permit, which forbids Sunday driving, was $50.

Neither of the fines have been paid to date, so Winch added an additional 60 days to Wolfe's jail sentence.

Lions Advised Growth Stocks Best Investment

Carl S. McKee, Appleton investment broker, told the Lions Club Monday noon, "The investment business is one of the cleanest in existence because of the wise regulations which govern it."

McKee, head of McKee and Jackels, Inc., investment firm, told the Lions that he advises potential investors to pick the steady growth stocks. "Keep away from the hot stuff," he admonished. "The bloom is off the rose with those issues."

Discussing the investment business in general, McKee told the Lions that too many people look on it as a "get rich quick" profession. "Many young men enter it each year looking for a fast fortune, only to fold after they've sold all they can to their friends and relatives and run into some stiff competition."

On the stock market today, McKee concluded, "It can't rise forever, as we thought it could in 1929, but there is little danger of it going down in that fashion today."

School Report System Changed at Kimberly

Board Appoints Committees To Study Curriculum Trends

KIMBERLY — The board of education voted to change the reporting system in public schools from six- to 9-week periods. The move was made on recommendation of Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools.

Students will receive four report cards a year rather than six. The new system will permit grade teachers to have parent visitation day after the first nine-week period and allow high school teachers to spend more time on unit work, noted Hamann.

The policy of sending home reports on individual student problems every four weeks will be continued.

Added Teacher

Approval was given for another English teacher for the high school rather than hiring a part-time teacher as previously done.

The board approved a contract for Mrs. Irene Wunrow, Appleton, as first grade teacher. Hamann reported he must still fill a teacher vacancy in the kindergarten and the new English position created by the board.

Board members approved a study of modern curriculum developments in social studies and English on the high school level and modern arithmetic on the grade school level. The survey will be concluded prior to the completion of the new high school.

Gilbert Frank will head the committee to study social studies assisted by Gerald Kroll and Allan Leicht. Darrell Larson will head the English committee, assisted by Andre Ranney and

Liberalized Plan Adopted to Stock 2 New NL Teams

Established Clubs Will Make 'Premium Picks' Available

CHICAGO (AP)—The National League today adopted a "liberalized" plan with a sliding scale to provide major league talent for its newest members — the New York Mets and the Houston Colts. Although the bulk of the plan is similar to that of the American League, the National League made available more players from which the newcomers can choose, including premium picks of $125,000 per player.

New York and Houston will pay $75,000 each for most of their players, but they also will have a choice of making $50,000 purchases, and each club will wind up with four $125,000 premium players.

Flat Price Set

In stocking Los Angeles and Washington, each American League club made available 15 players from which the new teams chose seven at a flat price of $75,000 a player. Each team spent $2.1 million.

The National League will make available 17 players from each established team, with each new club spending a minimum of $1.7 million to a maximum of $2.1 million.

Under the plan, each club will make available after the World Series 15 players from their roster as of Aug. 31, 1961. Seven of these must be from the active list and the other eight from each team's major league roster of 40.

Take 32 Players

The new clubs must take a total of 32 players at $75,000 a player with the established teams each losing four. New York and Houston then will have a choice of one player from each club at a price of $50,000.

Finally, each established club must then make available two premium players and from this list the newcomers must alternately select four $125,000 players. Each new team will end up with four premium players and each established team will lose only one. Under the entire plan, the

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

Bill Skowron, Yankees, went 3-for-5 and beat Angels, 8-6, with 3-run homer with two out in ninth.

Pitching: Jim Owens, Dallas, Green, Phils, each gave up four hits in 1-0 victory over Giants with Owens making first start, pitching six innings and claiming decision.

McMahon Halts Cards In Ninth

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves put down a ninth inning rally Monday night, thanks to the fine relief hurling of Don McMahon, and emerged with a 9-6 victory over St. Louis in the opener of a three-game series.

The Braves pushed over six runs in the third off starter and loser Larry Jackson and appeared to have things their own way until the Cards ganged up on Lew Burdette, who had given up only four hits in eight innings.

Singles by Ken Boyer, Stan Musial and Charley James brought in the first Cardinal run and Joe Cunningham hit a pinch single for another. Red Schoendienst doubled for the third run, and that was all for Burdette on the mound.

Preserves Win

Curt Flood hit a pinch single off McMahon but he got the next two batters out on a fly and a foul to preserve the decision for Burdette, now 7-5.

The Cards scored a pair of runs in the second on Boyer's double, James' hit over the mound, Alex Grammas' single and Joe Adcock's error on a grounder by Bob Lillis.

For the next six innings Burdette allowed only one hit, Schoendienst' pinch single to right. Gino Cimoli started off the Braves third inning surge by drawing a walk with two men out. He scored on singles by Frank Bolling and Eddie Mathews, while Bolling came home on Henry Aaron's single. Frank Thomas tripled to score Mathews and Aaron and came home himself ahead of Adcock on the big first baseman's 11th homer of the campaign.

The Braves picked up a run off Al Ciochte in the fifth on two walks and Adcock's single. They got another in the sixth on Cimoli's double and Bolling's single and finished in the ninth on Cimoli's second double, a fielder's choice and Aaron's single.

Dark Loses Temper, Tip Of Finger

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Angered because his San Francisco Giants left 12 men on base in a 1-0 loss to Philadelphia, the usually mild-mannered Manager Alvin Dark tore the tip off the little finger of his right hand Monday night when he threw a stool in the Giants dressing room.

Dark was taken to Temple University Hospital for emergency treatment and returned to his Philadelphia hotel room early this morning.

His finger caught in a jagged edge on one of the legs of the stool as he threw it into his own locker.

Of the 12 men the Giants left stranded, four of them were left on third base, once with none out, on one out and twice with two out.

Sessions Set Friday, Saturday

Orioles, Post-Crescent Slate Tryout Camp

For the second straight year, the Appleton Post-Crescent will combine with the Baltimore Orioles in the sponsorship of a tryout camp and baseball school at Goodland Field.

The sessions will be held Friday and Saturday. They will start at 10:30 a.m. each day.

The program is designed for players between the ages of 16 and 22.

At least one player will be signed to attend Baltimore's spring minor league camp at Thomasville, Ga., in 1962.

In charge of the school will be Jim Russo, supervisor of the Orioles' Midwest area scouts; Burleigh Grimes, former big league pitcher and now a scout; Harry Pitkin, Chicago area scout; Phil Gallivan, Minnesota area scout; and Earl Weaver, manager of the Fox Cities Foxes.

No advance registration is necessary. However, any boy with questions about the program should contact Bob Willis, Foxes general manager.

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE

... are enjoying a better Driving Car and are getting Better Tire Mileage by having their car aligned and balanced when it is NEW. How about you?

Topeka's Art Shamsky is being doubled up at third base in the fourth inning of Monday night's game at Goodland Field. "Nellie" Cochran, of Fox Cities, is taking the throw from first baseman Chuck Smiley. Topeka beat the Foxes, 9-3.

Ford Wins No. 13 as Yankees Beat Angels On Skowron's Homer

Jim Owens Hurls Phillies to 1-0 Victory Over Giants

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's getting so that the question no longer is whether Whitey Ford can win 20 for the first time. Now the speculation about the stubby southpaw is can he take 30?

No major league pitcher has won 30 since Dizzy Dean did it for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934. The only American League to come close since then was Hal Newhouse, who won 29 for Detroit in 1944.

But now comes Ford, at 32 a veteran in his 10th season with the New York Yankees, and a guy who never has won more than 19 in one year. In that time, however, he's won 156 and lost only 61 for an amazing .705 percentage.

Beat Every Club

Whitey won No. 13 Monday night, staggering through for an 8-6 victory at Los Angeles that made him the first to beat every club in the expanded 10-team American League. It was Ford's seventh straight success, giving him three more victories than any other pitcher in the majors this season. Coming in the only game scheduled in the AL, it put the second-place Yankees within one game of front-running Detroit.

While Ford and the Yankees were battling the Angels in the late, late show, the Philadelphia Phillies knocked off San Francisco.

Monson Signs Pro Cage Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Wayne Monson, former star guard for Northern Michigan, signed Monday with the San Francisco Saints of the American Basketball League.

Monson, from Green Bay, Wis., hit on 45 per cent of his field goal attempts last season and averaged 23 points a game while leading Northern Michigan to a 24-3 record and a berth in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship tournament.

Two Kaukauna Hurlers Blank New London

Hilgenberg, LaRock Combine for 5-Hit Legion Triumph

KAUKAUNA—Steve Hilgenberg and Dave LaRock combined to hurl the Kaukauna American Legion baseball team to a 3-0 victory over New London Monday evening.

Hilgenberg went 5½ innings before a streak of wildness got him in trouble. LaRock came in and preserved the shutout. Mike Herres, of New London, suffered his first setback.

The victory gives Kaukauna a 4-3 league record, while New London has a 2-4 mark.

Shows Strain

Herres, who had pitched a no-hitter and 2-hit shutout in a pair of appearances last week (the 2-hitter coming only Saturday) showed the strain of only two days rest. Herres worked six innings, striking out seven and walking five. He allowed all three runs.

Tom McDaniel worked the last two frames for the losers.

Kaukauna scored twice in the fourth inning. Fred Steger reached first when the center fielder dropped his fly ball and John Lambie singled him to third. Tom Otte squeezed Steger home with a perfect bunt, and Gary Weigman singled to plate Lambie.

The winners added another run in the fifth when Gary McGoe walked, Lambie hit into a fielder's choice that erased McGoe and Lambie then stole second and third on successive tries. Lambie scored on the next play when an infield grounder was bobbled.

Weigman led the Kaukauna hitting attack with two of the team's five hits. Steger had a triple and Buddy O'Brien hit a 2-bagger for the winners.

Jim Dernbach had a double for New London's only extra base hit. Kaukauna—3, New London—0.

Topeka Raps Foxes, 9-3

Ted Davidson Strikes Out 13; Doubleheader Slated Tonight

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Astrology charts notwithstanding, Monday was a bad day for right-handed pitchers in the Fox Cities.

Topeka's Reds massaged the offerings of Foxes right-handers Herm Starrette and Joe Puleo for eight runs and 12 hits in three innings, enroute to a 9-3 victory at Goodland Field.

Meanwhile, Ted Davidson and Dick Tetrault, who pitch from the so-called "wrong" side, could do little wrong. Topeka's Davidson southpawed a 7-hitter and whipped his strikeout ball past 13 batters as he notched his sixth win in seven decisions.

Take Second Place

The Foxes' Tetrault hurled six impressive innings of relief, permitting only four hits and one run. The victory enabled the Reds again to leap-frog over the Foxes in their see-saw battle for second place in the 3-1 League.

Tonight at Goodland Field, the Foxes have a chance to extract a double measure of revenge from the only team that holds an edge over them this season. In the doubleheader (starting at 6:30 p.m.), the Foxes will use Dave Vineyard and Dave McNally, while the Reds will call on Harvey Alex and John Flavin.

Topeka now owns a 5-4 season's margin over the Foxes and a 2-1 edge here.

The 3-7 combination again proved a magic parlay for Davidson. Less than a week ago, he stopped the Foxes at Topeka on another 3-run, 7-hit performance.

Davidson turned back every threat except one in the series opener. With two mates aboard in the fifth, Fox Cities catcher Jim Caldwell cleared the left centerfield wall with a booming drive — his fourth homer of the season. Sam Bowns and "Nellie" Cochran had reached base ahead of Caldwell on a walk and a single respectively.

Davidson escaped a bases-loaded trap in the third when Chuck Smiley grounded into a side-retiring force-out. Joe Puleo and Joe Pulliam hit safely to open the foxes' seventh, but Cedar Rapids, stopped in its tracks two days in a row by good pitching, got even in the Three-I League Monday.

Dick Kelley did the honors as the first place Braves held Lincoln to one hit and won with 7-0 ease.

Gary Johnson's single in the third inning was the only hit against Kelley, who turned in one of the league's top pitching efforts.

6 of 8 Seeded Players Win Between Showers at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chuck McKinley, America's No. 1 hope. The frustrating collapse of Wimbledon's opening day program under a chilling canopy of cloud and rain left the 75th tennis championships as wide open as ever today—and postponed for 24 hours the center court test of

Cubs Defeat White Sox in Exhibition Tilt

Brewer, Elston Allow 7 Hits, Triumph, 5-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox—thankful the Chicago Cubs are members of another league—headed into an important series against the American League-leading Detroit Tigers today, trying to extend a 10-game league winning streak.

The streak was broken Monday, but it was off the record as the Cubs belted 16 hits and took the annual exhibition charity game at Comiskey Park, 5-1. A crowd of 21,862 watched the contest.

Jim Brewer and Don Elston held the hottest team in the American League to seven hits as their teammates were shelling Ned Garver and Russ Kemmerer. Garver is trying to latch on to a pitching job with the White Sox and is not currently on the Sox roster.

Pitches 6 Innings
Garver pitched the first six innings and gave up four runs on 12 hits. Billy Williams, Jerry Kindall and Ed Bouchee each had three hits for the Cubs. The only extra base hits were a double by George Altman of the Cubs and two triples by Sox shortstop Luis Aparicio.

Williams batted in the first two runs in the first after a single by Ron Santo and Altman's double. Successive singles by Williams, Sammy Taylor, Bouchee and Brewer scored two more in the sixth and Andre Rogers batted in the fifth run with an eighth-inning single.

The only White Sox run came in the eighth when Aparicio tripled and scored on an infield out by Billy Goodman.

Manager Al Lopez rested most of his regulars, with only Aparicio and leftfielder Minnie Minoso starting.

Elston killed a White Sox threat when he retired Nellie Fox and Sherman Lollar, both pinch hitters, with the bases loaded in the ninth.

San Francisco — Benny Medina, 138½, Fresno, Calif., stopped Al Medrano, 137½, Sacramento, Calif., 4.

Seeded No. 8 McKinley, of St. Ann, Mo., and seeded No. 8, meets Italy's Sergei Tacchini today.

In the other top match, Rod (the Rocket) Laver outgunned the Soviet Union's Tomas Lejus 6-4, 6-1, 6-1. The red-haired Aussie had been given center court billing instead of Fraser and in his first appearance there since last year's final, rose to the honor. Only once in the first set, when he dropped his service, did his game fall below his reputation.

The other four seeds to enter the second round without serious difficulty were Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli, Australian champion Roy Emerson, Spain's Manuel Santana and Chile's veteran campaigner Luis Ayala.

Outclassed Opposition
All won without dropping a set, but against outclassed opposition. With only 16 matches completed in the opening session, the Wimbledon tournament was virtually back where it started.

The deluge that washed out the opening session followed the hottest and steamiest two days Britain has had for more than a year. With week-end temperatures in the 80s, the 20,000 crowd which poured into the grounds spent most of the day huddled beneath the grandstands or crowding the restaurants and bars.

Schoendienst Still Picks Braves to Win

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Red Schoendienst still picks the Milwaukee Braves to win the National League pennant and he can't figure out why they're in fifth place, 9½ games out.

The Redhead, who starred for Milwaukee in the pennant years of 1957 and 1958, hit a pinch single and drove in a run with a double Monday night in a losing cause as St. Louis lost to the Braves 9-6.

Biggest Lifesaver
"I picked the Braves to win away back in the spring," he said. "They've got a good club and the deals for Frank Thomas and Gino Cimoli they made by accident, but were terrific. I still think they have a good shot at it but they certainly don't belong in fifth place."

His manager, Solly Hemus, said

Milwaukee's "biggest lifesaver." "Ordinarily when you lose a super-star like Del Crandall, as the Braves did, that would automatically knock you out of it, but the Braves were fortunate to have a guy like Torre.

"He swings a good bat, moves around well and blocks the plate effectively. He'll get better as he goes along and learns more about the hitters. A club has to miss a catcher like Crandall, who knows the hitters."

Hemus said the Braves are in an ideal position to make a move toward the top.

Back in the Braves' clubhouse, Lew Burdette reflected on the fact he lost his stuff in the ninth inning and had to be bailed out by Don McMahon.

"What happened?" he asked. "I wish I knew. I jammed Ken Boyer and he got a hit. Then they started one big fire.

De la Torre and Vitense Win Tourney Berths

FOND DU LAC (AP)—Manuel De la Torre of Milwaukee and George Vitense of Madison dominated a field of 20 pros Monday and won Wisconsin's two berths in next month's PGA tournament in Chicago.

De la Torre stroked seven birdies and posted round of 70-73-143 at the par 71 South Hills course. Vitense was one stroke behind with 75-69-144.

Russ Tuveson of Janesville, who had 75-71-146, is first alternate. Other scores included: Lou Warobick of Manitowoc and Bob Kivlin, Lake Delton, 147; Howie Kluth and Jim Milward, Milwaukee, 149.

De la Torre teamed with Dick Swift of Waterford to take the best ball event with 66.

AAU Officials Disappointed

Loss of 7 Trackmen May Cost U. S. Only 1 Victory in Moscow

NEW YORK (AP)—The refusal of seven eligibles to make the trip for Olympic-style track and field meets against the Soviet Union, West Germany, England and Poland next month could cost the United States at least one victory in Moscow, AAU officials conceded today.

"It's disappointing not to be able to send our strongest team abroad," said Pinky Sober, chief of the track and field committee. "Actually, the team will not suffer much, except in the hammer throw."

The first and second place finishers in the national championships last weekend all were offered spots on the team.

But Ron Morris, the pole vault winner; Dallas Long and Parry O'Brien, 1-2 in the shotput, Harold Connolly and Al Hall, 1-2 in the hammer throw, and Al Oerter and Rink Babka, 2-3 in the discus throw, all refused to make the trip.

Jobs Are Blamed
Most of them complained that they couldn't take time off from their jobs unless they had some means of being reimbursed. Morris and O'Brien offered to go only to the Moscow meet. Connolly didn't like the way the last meet in Moscow was run.

The Soviet's Vassily Rudenkov won the Olympic hammer throw with a 220-1½ toss. Neither Tom Pagoni nor Bob Backus, the two hammer throwers who will make the trip, can match that. Yet Connolly, who holds the world record of 230-9, could do no better, do in the Olympics was Vladimir Lipsnis' 58-8¾.

The shotputters who replaced Long and O'Brien are Gary Gubnor of New York University, a 60-footer and Jay Silvester of the Santa Clara Youth Village, a 61-

Vanderhyden Wins Title in JCC Tourney

Tom Vanderhyden, of Menasha, won the tennis championship of the division for boys 13 years of age and under at the state Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament in Manitowoc last weekend.

Vanderhyden won the title by defeating Manitowoc's Harry Kaminski, 6-0, 6-3, in the finals.

Two other Menashans, Barry Conway and Diane Gilbertson, won trips to the national tourney in Lansing, Mich. Aug. 19 by finishing in the runnerup positions.

Miss Gilbertson lost her finals match to Mequon's Barbara Mueller, 6-1, 6-4, in the junior girls division. Barry Conway lost to Dan Bleckinger, Oshkosh, in the boys 15 and under division.

John Uelses and Henry Wadsworth, both 15-4 performers, should make up for Morris' absence in the pole vault.

Silvester beat both Oerter and Babka in the discus in the AAU championships with a 195-8 heave, less than a foot off the world record.

"We were aware in advance that most of these fellows couldn't go," said Sober. "But on the other hand their absence opens the door for some of our promising youngsters to acquire the international experience that makes champions. All in all, it's a strong team."

Jumbo Jim Elliott of Villanova, the head coach, called it a "great group of youngsters. They should give us a fine start toward the 1964 Olympics."

Some of the new faces are Frank Budd (the new 9.2 world record 100-yard dash man) and Paul Drayton of Villanova in the springs. Ullis Williams, Compton, Calif., schoolboy in the 440; Dixon Farmer of Occidental in the 440 hurdles; Jim Dupree of Southern Illinois in the half-mile, and Bob Avant of Southern California, who will team with John Thomas in the high jump.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Ford Dealers were first with a long-term warranty ...because they have the car to back it up

For 1961 the warranty* on all Ford cars was extended to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. This action tripled the existing warranty—and scooped the American automobile industry. It was dramatic proof of your Ford Dealer's confidence in the finest, most durable, most reliable Fords ever built. These are the cars with the new service-saving features most other manufacturers are just planning for the future. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications . . . 4,000 miles before you need to change oil. Brakes adjust themselves automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as the ordinary type. Body and underbody are specially protected against rust and corrosion. And, Ford's Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax. STOP spending money on a car that's behind the times. SWAP for a '61 Ford while sales are booming and the deals are sensational. SAVE when you buy. Continue to save with the car that's built to be more service-free. F.D.A.F.

Senator Working With NCAA on Bill to Make Bribes Federal Offense

Backers of Plan Await Reaction Of Justice Department Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate another member of the committee, is planning to press a bill he has drafted to place big time professional sports under federal regulation.

His bill which has been introduced, would create the post of federal boxing commissioner in the Justice Department, with powers to license fighters, managers, promoters and matchmakers, and to move in the courts to punish secret deals with the underworld.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee said Monday he hoped Congress will pass laws to deal with cases like the current college basketball scandals.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., announced he is collaborating with the National Collegiate Athletic Association in drafting such a bill. He said it would make the bribing of college and possible other amateur athletes a federal crime. The current scandals involve alleged payoffs by gamblers to some of the nation's top college basketball stars to keep scoring in certain games within the range of the gamblers' point-spread.

Herbert J. Miller Jr., chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, told the committee he lacked authority to commit the department to any position on such legislation.

Organized Crime

Miller was on the witness stand testifying in behalf of a broad program requested by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to help battle organized crime. None of Kennedy's bills would deal specifically with basketball or other sports scandals.
